Destruction of U. S. Government Sought By Americans in Cuba

Four Negroes Among Students Defying Federal Restrictions

HAVANA (AP) — Desruction of the U.S. government is advocated by four Negro students among 73 Americans visiting Cuba in defiance of State Department restrictions.

A statement denouncing the "North American racist government" was issued by the four. It added, "We realize the United States government is the biggest farce in history and must be destroyed."

Six others in the group which arrived Friday by way of Prague, Czechoslovakia, are Negroes.

A 23-year-old New Yorker, Ed Lemansky, identified himself as the group's leader and a Communist.

Different Reasons

He distributed a statement declaring: "We have different reasons for coming to Cuba, but we are united in our opposition to our government's efforts to prevent United States citizens from traveling to Cuba."

The four Negroes identified themselves as Ernest Allen, 21, Oakland, Calif., a student at the University of California at Berkeley; Luke Tripp, 23, Detroit, student at Wayne State; Charles Berrard, 24, Los Angeles student at Los Angeles City College; and Ron Bedford, 26, St. Louis architectural draftsman.

The 73 circumvented U.S. restrictions on Cuban travel by obtaining passports to Europe, flying to Paris and Prague before flying to Havana.

Lemansky said members were from the United States and Puerto Rico.

2-Month Stay

The Americans, 49 men and 23 women, planned a two-month stay in Cuba.

In Washington, the State Department said only that it learned the group was en route to Cuba and notified U.S. embassies in Paris and Prague. But the word was too late for the embassies to reach the students and warn them of the consequences of a visit to Cuba, officials said.

A warm greeting was staged for the Americans by representatives of the Cuban Foreign Ministry and student Communist leaders. Flowers were presented to every American.

Lemansky told newsmen the trip was arranged by the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba. The organization sponsored a similar trip to Cuba last year by 59 American students. He said the Cuban Federation of University Students was paying the group's expenses.

Florida City Seeks Ban on Night Marches

Strife Continues As Whites March In Negro Sections

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) —A new twist in this city's racial strife — whites marching through a Negro neighborhood —moved authorities to seek renewal today of a ban on night marches.

More than 300 whites walked into the Negro section Friday night and were greeted by signs reading: "Welcome. Peace and brotherhood to you."

About 50 Negroes at one corner applauded as the whites left the district. Some said, "Hurry back."

"We whipped them right there," said one Negro man. "They encountered no violence."

Marches Dangerous

But Florida Atty. Gen. James Kynes said marches by either integrationists or segregationists contribute to "a clear and present danger."

He asked U.S. District Judge Bryan Simpson to reconsider his order striking down a police ban on night marches. A hearing was scheduled at Jacksonville today.

Dr. Martin Luther King, arrested and jailed at a sitin on Thursday, moved to the Duval County jail at Jacksonville Friday night. He was to be a witness at the hearing in Jacksonville today.

A decision on the marches also may come on the streets, since integration and segregation groups declared they will march daily.

Prayer Service

A drama took place in this, the nation's oldest city, Friday night. As a first act, about 250 Negroes marched downtown and held a prayer service in the old slave market. A handful of whites watched quietly.

Less than two hours later, more than 300 whites marched 25 blocks through the Negro section of town. Their leaders, Bubba Manucy and Dixon Stanford, proclaimed it was not a Ku Klux Klan group, but only white segregationists.

A force of 200 helmeted policemen accompanied both of the marches.

Erhard Reassures Johnson on Soviet, E. German Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard goes home tonight after agreeing with President Johnson that the West need not worry about the Soviet-East German friendship treaty.

The pact the U.S.S.R. and her satellite signed in Moscow Friday aroused sharp interest in Washington but created no new crisis, German sources declared.

In fact, State Department experts were inclined to regard the treaty as a defeat for Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader and chief of state.

He is understood to have asked for a separate "peace treaty"—which the West firmly opposes—and got instead a pact with a lofty title but lile substance.

Communist Buildup For Possible Attack Reported in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Indications of a Communist buildup for a possible attack on the neutralist stronghold of Muong Soui in north central Laos were reported today by Western military sources.

A Pathet Lao attack on Muong Soui had been expected since the fall of two other neutralist positions earlier this week.

Muong Soui straddles a vital highway leading from the Communist-controlled Plaine des Jarres 110 miles north of Vientiane.

The main body of neutralists under General Kong Le are deployed in positions south of Muong Soui. It did not appear Kong Le was reinforcing his position.

Earlier American photographic flights had spotted convoys from North Viet Nam into Pathet Lao territory.

President Johnson puts a $50,000 check in his billfold Friday and draws a hearty laugh from West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, Erhard gave the check to Johnson at the White House. It is the West German contribution to aid development of Peace Corps-type organizations throughout the world. (AP Wirephoto)

Lincolnian Effort

Scranton Embarks on Crusade to Save Party From Conservatism

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)— Suave Gov. William W. Scranton embarked today on what he depicts as a Lincolnian crusade to rescue the Republican party from the Goldwater conservatism he sees as threatening a GOP defeat in November.

Scranton declared himself in the running for the party's presidential nomination Friday and received a warm sendoff from many Republican leaders, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the target of his new adventure—Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Goldwater called Scranton "one of the outstanding governors in the nation." Eisenhower, who had urged an "open convention" and indicated differences with Goldwater, welcomed "the entry of Gov. Scranton, whom I have long admired."

But Scranton received anything but good wishes from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Nixon had urged someone get in the ring with Goldwater. And he declared Friday night that Scranton had a "fighting chance."

But Nixon said that the governor gave a "very weak and unfortunate impression" on television last Sunday after receiving a telephone call from Eisenhower advising him not to enter any cabal against any candidate, meaning Goldwater.

Left Shaken

Scranton reportedly was ready to announce his candidacy on the program but he told friends the phone call left him uncertain and shaken.

Of this Nixon said: "If a man receives a telephone call and changes his mind, he isn't a very strong man. He's got to make his own decisions and not appear to be a puppet maneuvered by someone else."

Scranton, described by various pundits as the "Hamlet of Harrisburg" because of his previous indecision, solved his "to run or not to run" dilemma and galloped into the GOP presidential contest Friday in spectacular style.

He waved his arms, smiled, shook every hand within reach at the Maryland State Convention in Baltimore and turned out polished phrases attacking Goldwater as a neo-neanderthal type who offers only a "weird parody" to traditional Republican beliefs.

To make up for lost time, Scranton sets off today in quest of delegates, flying to Hartford to address the Connecticut State Republican Convenion.

He has a lot of catching up to do. With the convention opening one month away, Scranton

Viet Cong Mines Derail 3 Trains, Kill Six Persons

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist Viet Cong mines derailed three trains and blew up two trucks Friday killing six persons, the Ministry of Defense announced.

It was one of the busiest days for Viet Cong saboteurs along the 600 mile Saigon-Wuang Tri Railroad line, South Viet Nam's only north-south rail link.

Elsewhere, government forces killed 13 Viet Cong 120 miles southwest of Saigon Friday when a government unit clashed with a Viet Cong force near Vinh Loi in Ba Xuyen Province.

The United States has set up a communications unit manned by a small contingent of U.S. Marines in Quang Cri Province near the borders of Laos and Communist North Viet Nam, an American military spokesman reported.

State GOP Funds Expected to Soar

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Wisconsin Republicans expect to add plenty of funds to the state party's treasury tonight with a $100-a-plate dinner highlighted by the appearance of former vice president Richard M. Nixon.

A spokesman said that the GOP hopes to have at least 2,000 diners at the affair. Seats for persons who only want to hear the speech-making will cost $3 each.

Ulbricht Returning To East Germany With Soviet Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht flew home today carrying a new friendship treaty with the Soviet Union.

Premier Khrushchev, bidding farewell to Ulbricht, said "It is very difficult to overestimate the importance of this treaty."

The treaty was interpreted in the West as an effort to bolster Ulbricht's regime, but which did not appear to change the problem of resolving Germany's status, left unsettled since World War II.

Goldwater Gains Despite Scranton Entry

Arizona Senator Just 81 Short of Party Preference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's delegate total for the Republican national convention is continuing to swell despite Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's entry into the contest for the party's presidential nomination.

The Arizona senator has 574 first-ballot votes, just 81 short of the 655 needed to nominate, according to The Associated Press survey of delegates.

Another 64 delegates were being chosen at Republican conventions today in Connecticut, New Mexico, Idaho and Virginia.

First Ballot

The AP poll, based on primary election commitments, pledges, instructions or state preference, gives this first ballot breakdown:

Barry Goldwater	574
Nelson A. Rockefeller	131
William W. Scranton	92
Henry Cabot Lodge	46
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	14
Favorite sons	110
Uncommitted	217

The Connecticut state GOP convention at Hartford was expected to include four pro-Goldwater delegates in its 16-member delegation. Gov. Scranton addresses the convention today in his first speech since he announced his candidacy.

Virginia GOP

Virginia Republicans are choosing 10 at-large delegates to go with 20 district delegates. Two district delegates favorable to Goldwater were picked Friday, bringing his total to 19.

Goldwater may get a solid bloc of 14 delegates in Idaho today.

He is also expected to get a considerable share of New Mexico's 14 delegates.

Fourteen of Maryland's 20 delegates remained uncommitted after hearing Scranton announced his candidacy at the state convention at Baltimore. Five support Goldwater and one backs New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Space Center Orders A Mechanical Dummy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A dummy with mechanical insides to maintain human skin temperatures has been requested by the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The mannequin would be used with varying temperatures for the hands, feet, head, chest, abdomen, back and buttocks.

No Commitments on Site, Jurisdiction Included in Committee Suggestion

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — With surprising ease, a proposal for a new four year state - supported institution of higher education to serve the lower Fox Valley area was endorsed Friday by the influential Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

The committee was set up by legislative act nine years ago as a master planning agency for higher education administration and development and will have a strong influence upon the governor and the legislature next January when the first planning appropriation requests for the new school will be considered.

Most observers of the state higher education program believe that the establishment of a new four year general educational institution in the populous northeastern section of the state is now a strong probability.

Ignored Kenosha

In accepting the recommendation of its staff and subcommittee for giving the Fox Valley highest priority in the planning of a new college level educational opportunity, the Committee ignored the protests of a citizens group representing the interests of the city of Kenosha.

The Committee accepted the blueprint as it was submitted, visualizing a new four year institution that would open its doors for the education of Fox Valley students starting in 1969, and another to handle the enrollment pressures of the Racine-Kenosha area to be launched two years later, in 1971.

The Committee vote was unanimous, and occasioned only routine discussion although it covered other plans including a proposal to expand the curriculum and staff and other services of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee to "major university status."

Education Needs

The educational needs and the enrollment potential of the Fox Valley area were examined earlier by a subcommittee on plans of the CCHE, which concluded that the northeastern section has substantially greater claims for consideration than the southeastern zone which is in close proximity to existing tax-supported four year schools at Whitewater and Milwaukee.

The Committee action thus far simply declares its intention to ask for money to launch the new four year institution somewhere in the lower Valley.

University Branch

There is yet no commitment on site selection, or on administrative jurisdiction, issues that are likely to cause some controversy in the future.

The University of Wisconsin

No Further Change Seen In Rights Bill

Humphrey Says House May Take Senate's Version

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Senate floor manager for the civil rights bill, said today there is an excellent chance the House will accept the version the Senate is working on now.

"And I am confident," Humphrey said in an interview, "There will be no further changes of any substance."

If the Minnesota Democrat is correct on both counts, once the bill is passed by the Senate and the House concurs, it can go directly to President Johnson to be signed into law.

However, if the House does not accept the Senate changes, the bill will go to a conference committee to resolve differences in the versions passed by the House Feb. 10 and by the Senate. The result could be delay or even stalemate.

Close Consultation

"We have been in the closest consultation with House leaders, and we feel the bill as it now stands is acceptable to them," Humphrey said.

He also expressed confidence the bill will get to Johnson before Congress quits for the Republican National Convention.

GOP Is Stunned by Scranton's Decision

Even Goldwater Foes Wondering If Move Was Not Made Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton's sudden decision to challenge Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination stirred—if not electrified—party leaders across the country.

But many, including foes of Goldwater, wondered if the governor's move wasn't too late.

In essence they asked, "Where was Scranton earlier?"

And a Rockefeller supporter remarked tartly, "Scranton and others like him sat on their hands too long."

There was certainly no sign in an Associated Press survey of party leaders of any break in the ranks of Goldwater backers after Scranton's announcement Friday.

Cheered Scranton

Those who cheered the governor's leap into the race were previously uncommitted or were backing candidates other than Goldwater.

Typical of those who have been supporting Goldwater was Tennessee GOP chairman Harry Carbaugh who said, "I personally am standing foursquare with Goldwater. It appears to me that a group in the Republi-

Gap Is Unbridgeable

Khrushchev Seems Ready to Admit Communist World Split Inevitable

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

Nikita Khrushchev seems about ready to admit that the Soviet-Chinese split is unbridgeable in the foreseeable future, and that a splintered Communist world is inevitable.

Khrushchev concedes there is an estrangement not only between the Chinese and Soviet Communist parties, but also between the Peking and Moscow governments.

Khrushchev leaves it up to the Chinese whether there will be a move toward reconciliation. Displaying little hope that there will be, he virtually apologizes to the rest of the Communist world for the current state of affairs.

Friday Speech

Khrushchev's remarks, interpolated in Friday's speech about the East German-Soviet friendship treaty, indicated a profound weariness with the whole Chinese affair. They seemed the words of a man caught in an impossible squeeze between the pressures in the Soviet Union for economic advancement and the pressures of world communism for more aggressive expansion.

If there is no reconciliation, Khrushchev seems to say, it will not be his fault but Peking's.

"One should not," says Khrushchev, "allow the spread of ideological differences to intergovernmental relations, since this ultimately weakens the position of world socialism and plays into the hands of imperialism.

"We believe that even today the road is not closed for the normalization of Soviet-Chinese relations, including governmental relations. All that is required is good will and awareness of one's supreme duty to one's people, to the entire revolutionary movement. Our party will constantly guide itself by this principle."

It seems likely Moscow considers Red China effectively outside the Soviet bloc of nations.

The Soviet newspaper Izvestia recently quoted Marshal Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, as describing China as a "nonaligned country." Izvestia added that "politically speaking, this means Chen Yi no longer considers China part of the world socialist (Communist) camp."

Enormous Harm

The break has done enormous harm to the world Communist movement, and Khrushchev seems to want to escape blame.

The Red Chinese accuse Khrushchev of going capitalist, of catering to a Russian middle class which thinks of comfort and individual happiness before world revolution.

Khrushchev insists he is just as ardently for world revolution as the Chinese. But he reflects the Soviet people's own aspirations when he says people around the world would hardly follow a Communist government "whose people have no trousers."

That's the problem. It's trousers or world revolution.

'Richard III' Absurd Show At Stratford

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The American Shakespeare Festival Players have concocted a ridiculous "Richard III."

In the production which premiered this week, the classic chronicle of regal villainy shrivels into a mound of quivering, strident absurdity.

Tackling the title role with spiderish ferocity and vocal rant is Douglas Watson, whose versatile talents have been far more fortunately utilized in a wide variety of parts during the past several seasons.

A Mockery

The mocking spirit in which Director Allen Fletcher has keyed the entire enterprise gives Watson a task that occasions laughter at wrong moments and glaringly exposes the plot's admitted inner imperfections. Posturing broadness has infected the behavior of most of the cast.

The scenic layout by Will Steven Armstrong centers on a split bridge that pivots about for palace, prison or cloister, and the second half of the show pulsates pictorially with crimson splendor.

At Bosworth Field, the miscreant king calls for a horse to save his cause. A lot more is needed to transform this "Richard III" into credible, creditable drama.

Gene Barry Plays One Role, Lives Another

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Within this elegant exterior,' says Gene Barry, "there is a nonconformist trying to escape."

Living up to his television image as Amos Burke, the millionaire police detective of "Burke's Law," can be a bother.

This is the second crime-fighting dandy for Gene, who for three seasons was Bat Masterson, frontier fashion plate. Now as Burke, he plays a millionaire policeman devoted to epicurean tastes. And some folks expect him to live the role.

Plain Man

"People send me champagne when I'm eating out," he says. "I hate to tell them that I'm the kind of a guy who would rather get the same results from a couple of belts of Scotch."

As for fancy food—"I'm a meat and potatoes man myself; I'd rather have my dishes without all the fancy sauces."

A fringe benefit of his job is a complete wardrobe tailored to his measurements by a clothing firm that foots the bill.

"But even that can be a drag," he sighed. "It's a lot of bother to go through the fuss of five fittings apiece for 25 suits each year. Sometimes I'd rather just buy my suits off the rack."

Naturally he must keep his waistline trim and that can be a bore, too "I kind of look forward to middle age, when I can let the stomach go and wear pants with the double pleats to hide the flab," he said.

Before you shed any tears for brother Gene, it should be added that he isn't displeased with the success of "Burke's Law" in its first season. Far from it. He's the principal shareholder.

Moore plans a slow trip around the world next season.

Murder Victim Buried Today At Chilton

Margaret Rausch Believed Slain by Apartment Caretaker

Post-Crescent News Service

Miss Margaret Rausch, 75, Milwaukee rooming house landlady and former Green Bay resident who was found shot to death in her Milwaukee apartment Thursday, was buried this morning at Chilton.

Miss Rausch was found dead on her kitchen floor by police who broke into the apartment through a window after neighbors reported she had not been seen since Tuesday. She had been shot several times, one bullet entering her left temple.

Police said she had been dead at least two days when found.

The caretaker of the rooming house at 1812 E. Lafayette Place, Milwaukee, was also found in his adjoining apartment, hanging from a metal crossbar in a closet by a clothesline rope. Milwaukee police said the deaths "look like a murder and a suicide."

The dead man was identified as William Weirmack, 47, who had lived in the building about 15 years.

Violent Struggle

Police said Miss Rausch's apartment showed signs of a violent struggle, with tipped over furniture and broken dishes. A .22 caliber revolver was found in Weirmack's room.

Other roomers told police that Weirmack had been drinking heavily for several days. One said Miss Rausch had told her she had asked Weirmack to move because of his drinking.

Miss Rausch, who formerly worked for the Fort Howard paper mill, moved to Milwaukee about 25 years ago. She was born in Chilton but had lived in Green Bay for several years prior to settling in Milwaukee.

Laird Impact Felt by GOP In California

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield Republican, is fast becoming a household word among West Coast GOP members.

Monday he flies to San Francisco for a "California unity meeting" between forces supporting the presidential candidacies of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

'Background Briefing'

On Tuesday he will hold a "background briefing" for West Coast newspaperemen on the operation of the convention's platform committee next month.

Laird returns to the East Coast on Wednesday where he will speak in New York to the Overseas Press Club.

After that he returns to the "peace and quiet" of Washington.

Waukesha Man Held In Traffic Deaths

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — A Wisconsin man who was driving a bus which skidded into a bridge abutment near Gurnee June 2, killing three women and injuring 30, has been charged with reckless homicide.

The charge was placed against Clarence Lorch, 60, of Waukesha, Wis., Friday. A spokesman at St. Therese Hospital said Lorch was in fair to poor condition with injuries suffered in the accident.

'Crime Boss' Arraigned in Quebec Court

Joseph Bonnano, reputed crime syndicate boss and frequent visitor to the Fond du Lac area up to last year, was arraigned Wednesday in a Montreal, Quebec court on perjury charges.

Bonnano was arrested last week by Canadian authorities as he crossed the border. Immigration officials said he lied when indicating he had no criminal record.

Bonnano, alias "Joe Bananas", was described in court as a principal figure in the United States Costa Nostra crime organization.

Bonnano's wife, Fay, is a stockholder in a Fond du Lac County Italian cheese company which has other holdings in the state and other parts of the country.

The charges at Montreal arose from Bonnano's habeas corpus motion to block deportation attempts. The warrant says Bonnano lied in the motion when he swore that he had been imprisoned falsely by federal authorities.

A preliminary hearing has been set for next Wednesday.

Stevens Point Company Sold

Whiting-Plover Goes To Nekoosa-Edwards In Stock Exchange

Special to The Post-Crescent

PORT EDWARDS — Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., has completed negotiations to acquire Whiting-Plover Paper Co., Stevens Point, through an exchange of stock, according to an announcement today by Samuel A. Casey, Nekoosa-Edwards president, and Thomas Leech, president and treasurer of Whiting-Plover.

The agreement has been approved by directors of both companies. Approval of stockholders will be asked at a special meeting July 17.

Stockholders will be asked to authorize an issue of 150,000 shares of preferred stock, an undisclosed amount of which will be exchanged for the outstanding preferred and common shares of Whiting-Plover.

The remainder of the proposed issue will be available from time to time for future acquisitions or other corporate purposes.

In a joint statement, Casey and Leech said, "This joining of two companies located less than 20 miles apart on the Wisconsin River will result in many operating, marketing and technical advantages.

"It is our plan to retain present personnel and to take advantage of the special features of both organizations."

Top Truckers Compete In State Roadeo at DePere June 19-21

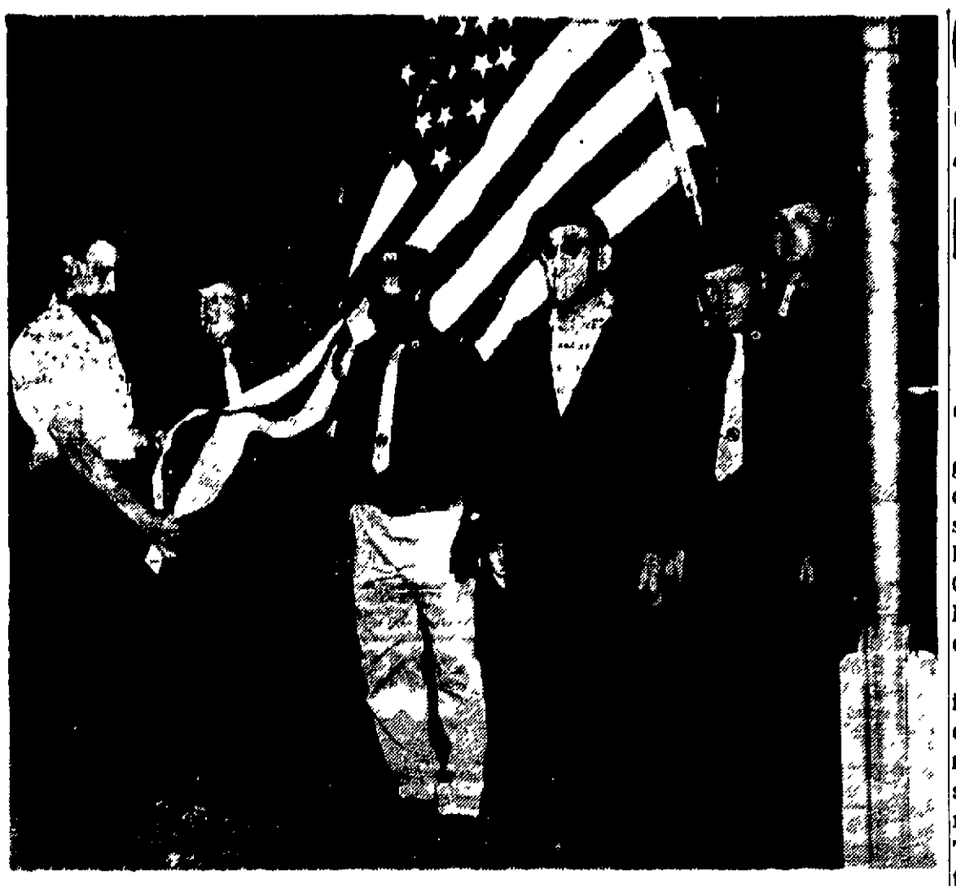

Wisconsin's top truck drivers will show their driving talents in the state championship truck roadeo June 19-21 at the Brown County fairgrounds in DePere.

Some of the most skillful drivers, representing over 90,000 professional drivers in the state, will compete in four classes, ranging from city delivery trucks to the biggest highway semi-trailers. Winners will represent the state in national competition at Louisville, Ky., in September.

A special highlight of the driving contest this year will be a "Petticoat Derby" in which wives of truck drivers will compete.

The roadeo is sponsored by Wisconsin Truckers Safety Council. Al J. Schneider, Green Bay, is general chairman.

Schneider says the roadeo is "more than a skill-driving contest because drivers must have top safety records to compete and they are scored on courtesy, knowledge of highway rules and other factors."

Regional Ports Get Backing From Bureau

Exception Noted For Rhinelander, Land O'Lakes Area

From Press Dispatches

WASHINGTON — Establishment of regional airports in the so-called North Central area, except for the Rhinelander-Land O'Lakes site, were formally recommended today to the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB).

The recommendations came from the CAB's Bureau of Economic Regulation (BER), which has stated its positions several times.

The bureau repeated its contention that the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh should be designated the regional airport to serve the Appleton-Oshkosh complex.

"Ideally," Howard G. Feldman, bureau counsel, said, "a new airport close to Neenah-Menasha should be constructed, but this appears no longer feasible."

Among several other recommendations, Feldman said the Clintonville area should be served through the Green Bay airport. This consolidation, he said, would cut North Central's annual subsidy by about $35,000.

The BER requested a review of the findings and recommendations of CAB trial examiner Edward T. Stodola in the North Central Airlines regional airports hearing.

Among other points, Stodola advised that both the Outagamie and Winnebago county airports continue to receive scheduled airline service. The bulk of future airline stops, he said, should be determined by sources of traffic origin.

Green Bay Man Reports Cash Swindle

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay detectives today reported the swindle of $3,000 in cash from an 81-year-old west side man Thursday in a confidence scheme based on two men pretending to be police officers.

Detectives gave this report of how the two men got the money:

At the Union Bus Depot at about 10 a.m. Thursday, a man walked up to the 81-year-old man, flashed a badge and said he was a policeman, then told the elderly man he was being arrested. He took the elderly man from the depot, and in front of the Hotel Northland a second "police officer" stopped them.

'Release' Arranged

The two men then began talking about releasing the man "on bail," and one of the men said he would call the police chief. When he returned, the elderly man was told he could be released on $3,000 cash bond.

The two men then went with the elderly man to the West Side State Bank, where he withdrew $3,000 and gave it to the two men.

About 2 p.m., the elderly man became concerned and telephoned the police station to ask to "see the officers who took the $3,000 from me." Police asked him to come to the station and learned his story.

Detective Capt. Jerome Queoff said the victim's identity was being withheld during the investigation.

Inability to Buy Land Hurts Mukwa Project

State Conservation Commission Okays 1,400 Acre Purchase

Post-Crescent News Service

WOODRUFF — Inability to secure options on key tracts in the Mukwa wildlife area is slowing acquisition of this proposed game management project on the Wolf River in Waupaca County, Conservation Department Director L. P. Voight informed the State Conservation Commission here Friday.

Commissioners formally voted to purchase the 1,400-acre marshland near New London along with a modified Mirror Lake tract, Rock Island off the up of Washington Island and the Wisota project.

Authorizations were unanimous except for Rock Island. Chairman Guido Rahr said he "couldn't see" the island as economically sound investment.

Isolated Islands

He contended isolated islands are not used for recreation as is generally supposed. He cited Chambers Island, Horseshoe Island and even Washington Island as examples. Rock Island has no anchorage, it is remote for outboarders and a causeway link with Washington Island will be costly, Rahr said.

"We should put this money where it will show more for the public's dollar," he contended.

In casting the only dissenting vote concerning progress with Mukwa, Voight said the department is getting close cooperation from local communities. To facilitate the purchase and others of a similar nature, the commission instructed Voight to arm department personnel with a ceiling figure based on current appraisal values.

If this proves inadequate, Voight was told to seek figures from outside appraisers. Beyond that, commissioners indicated, there is no recourse but to drop the project.

856 Acres Purchased

Total land purchases made Friday amounted to 856 acres at a cost of $12,728. Land exchanged involved 144 acres at a cost of $4,000.

State Forester John Beale reported negotiations are underway to lease and preserve a stand of virgin pine in Menominee County as a tourist attraction despite its maturity and harvest potential.

He also said an agreement is sought with Menominee Enterprises to establish a state park at The Dalles on the Wolf River in Menominee County.

Wood Manufacturers Set 54th Convention

Members of the Northern Hardwood and Pine Manufacturers' Association will convene at Land O'Lakes June 24 and 25 for their 54th annual convention.

It is hoped that a local wood promotion program will be initiated at this meeting. Members also will hear a report of a new concept in lumber grading in which lumber is stress-graded by mechanical means, coupled with visual inspection.

About 150 lumberman, their wives and guests are expected to attend.

The association consists of major lumber, flooring, plywood and veneer manufacturers.

Graduate Music Study Program Likely at OSC

Recommendation by Coordinating Group For College Regents

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A graduate degree program in music at Wisconsin State College - Oshkosh, should be added to the curriculum of that growing school, the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education decided Friday.

The school was authorized to institute a graduate major course of study leading to the master's degree in music, as soon as faculty and other arrangements can be completed. The proposal was advanced by the state college board of regents.

The master planning board also approved new undergraduate in speech and hearing therapy majors at Oshkosh, and in international studies.

The speech major represents a particular faculty strength at Oshkosh and the international studies program is intended to strengthen its general education offerings in line with rapidly growing enrollment.

Plans Ratified

The Coordinating Committee also ratified plans of the college regents to provide a major course of instruction in accounting at Wisconsin State College - Eau Claire, a major in medical technology at Whitewater State College, and a major in Latin American studies at Central State College, Stevens Point.

The committee briefly reviewed the statutory authority of the college regents to change the names of the colleges under its jurisdiction to "universities" and apparently was satisfied the requirements of the law were fulfilled.

The committee members made no comment after Jim Dan Hill of the committee staff read the legal documentation supporting the decision.

The new name of Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh, etc., will become effective July 1.

Waukesha Man Begins Jail Term For Killing Wife

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A former Waukesha, Wis., postal worker began a term of life imprisonment today for the ambush slaying of his former wife who fled Wisconsin with her five children in fear of her life a year ago.

Joseph Peter Zima, 40, was sentenced Friday after he pleaded guilty to second degree murder. He said he was entering the plea to spare his children the rigors of a murder trial.

Zima's former wife, Bertha, 40, was shot and killed on the night of April 9 as she left a restaurant where she worked as a waitress. Police said Zima quit his job in Waukesha and tracked his wife to Long Beach, where he hid behind parked cars and ambushed her.

Zima was arrested as he knelt behind the body of his ex-wife, who had been shot three times with a pistol. The couple had been divorced in April, 1963, while he was serving an 18-month sentence in Wisconsin State Prison for non-support.

Zima's five children are being cared for by his sister, who lives in California. He refused to disclose the city to newsmen.

Unusual Planter Combines Framed Picture, Container

BY CAPPY DICK

An unusual planter to hold some plants with long leaves like those in Figure 3 is easy for a boy or girl to make from a suitable planter box and a framed picture

Use a framed scenic picture

should be cut apart If you can't find a satisfactory landscape, draw or paint such a picture and mount it in the frame

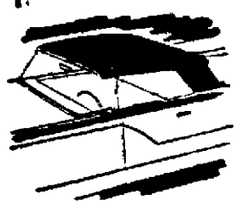

The picture and frame should be of a size suited to the length of the box to be used for the planter (Figure 2).

After cutting the frame and picture into two pieces, mount the top part at the back of the planter box Attach the bottom part of the picture to the front of the box as in Figure 3

Fill the box with soil and arrange the plants in it You will then have a display that is bound to catch the eye of any visitor.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "There is shrubbery on either side of the road." It is better to say, "on each side of the road."

Often Mispronounced: Saute (fried lightly). Pronounce soe-tay, accent on second syllable.

Often Misspelled: Subterranean: observe the two "r's." and the "ean" ending.

Synonyms: Examine, consider, criticize, explore, inspect, investigate, overhaul, scrutinize, search, test, try.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's Word: ratiocination; the act or process of reasoning. (Pronounce rash - ee - oss-ee-nay-shun, principal accent on fifth syllable). "The professor's ratiocination was interrupted by the peal of the bell."

Town Menasha Starts First Play Program

Recreation Work Begins Monday at Two Playgrounds

MENASHA — The Town of Menasha will have its first summer recreation program this year and Palisades and Spring Road Playgrounds will operate from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays, including the noon hour, for eight weeks.

Opening at 9 a.m. Monday, Ralph Gooding will direct both playgrounds. Mrs. Jean Scholl will be the assistant at Spring Road and Miss Peggy Shirriff at the Palisades playground.

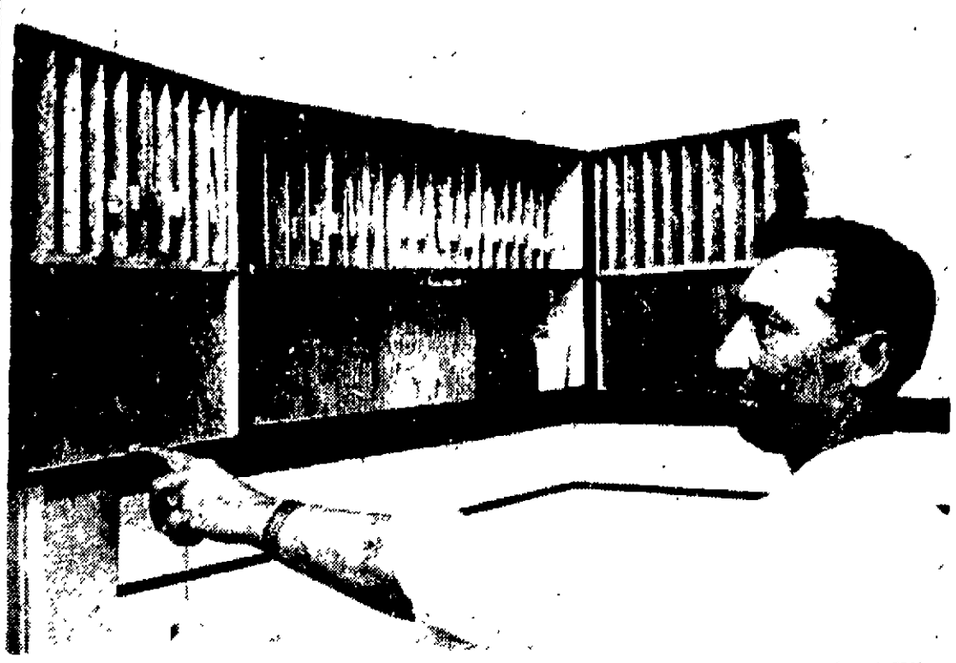

Scavenger hunts, bike and wheels day, costume day, dolls and toys day, balloon and bubble gum day, surprise day, picnic day and other special events will be planned on a weekly basis.

Tentative plans call for lessons to be given in tennis, golf, softball, volleyball and lustro lace craft. Various crafts will be taught such as: paper, wire, pipe cleaner, bottle and can, paper plate, milk carton, straw, yarn and felt. The youngsters will also learn new group games each week.

The schedule for the week of June 15, includes: Monday-Scavenger hunt and lustro lace craft; Tuesday - Peanut Day; Wednesday - Tournament and story hour; Thursday - New group game and paper craft.

Wesley Baldry, Omro, checks the tooth brush rack in one of the wards at Winnebago State Hospital which won his Merit Service Award from the Department of Public Welfare, Division of Mental Hygiene. A nursing assistant at Winnebago State Hospital, Baldry designed and, with the help of his father, built this rack which is not only practical in every respect but also adheres to proper sanitation code. Awards are made by the Division of Mental Hygiene each month, on the basis of ingenuity and practicality, and the size of the award is determined by the importance of the contribution. The tooth brush rack resulted in a $75 check for Baldry. (Post-Crescent Photo)

A Trip to Many Lands was made by St. Mary grade school children via the hard work and imagination of Sister M. Beata, SSND, and her sixth graders. They turned the new elementary library into a world of song, maps, pictures, dancers in "native" costumes and provided a wealth of information for classmates, schoolmates, teachers, parents and friends before the close of school. The projects pinpointed Eurasia and some of the children corresponded with behind-the-iron-curtain countries, received photos and had them on display. Left to right, Paul Schoultz, Christine Arndt and Catherine Kamp dress a native. Shown at their displays, rear, are Catherine Kampo, Loreli McCrary, Kathy Bauer and Elizabeth Lenz with the onlookers unidentified. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Parents' Role In Education Called Vital

NEENAH—Parents play a vital part in teaching the child his role in the learning process, Raymond Feit, principal of Banta Elementary School has told the Menasha Kiwanis Club.

Speaking at Valley Inn, Feit noted that "if we don't get the interest of the parent, a great deal is lost."

The parent's cooperation is particularly valuable when it comes to interesting the child in following through such activities as the public library's summer reading program, he said.

He called working with children of elementary school age "stimulating and interesting. They are receptive to new ideas and challenging to work with."

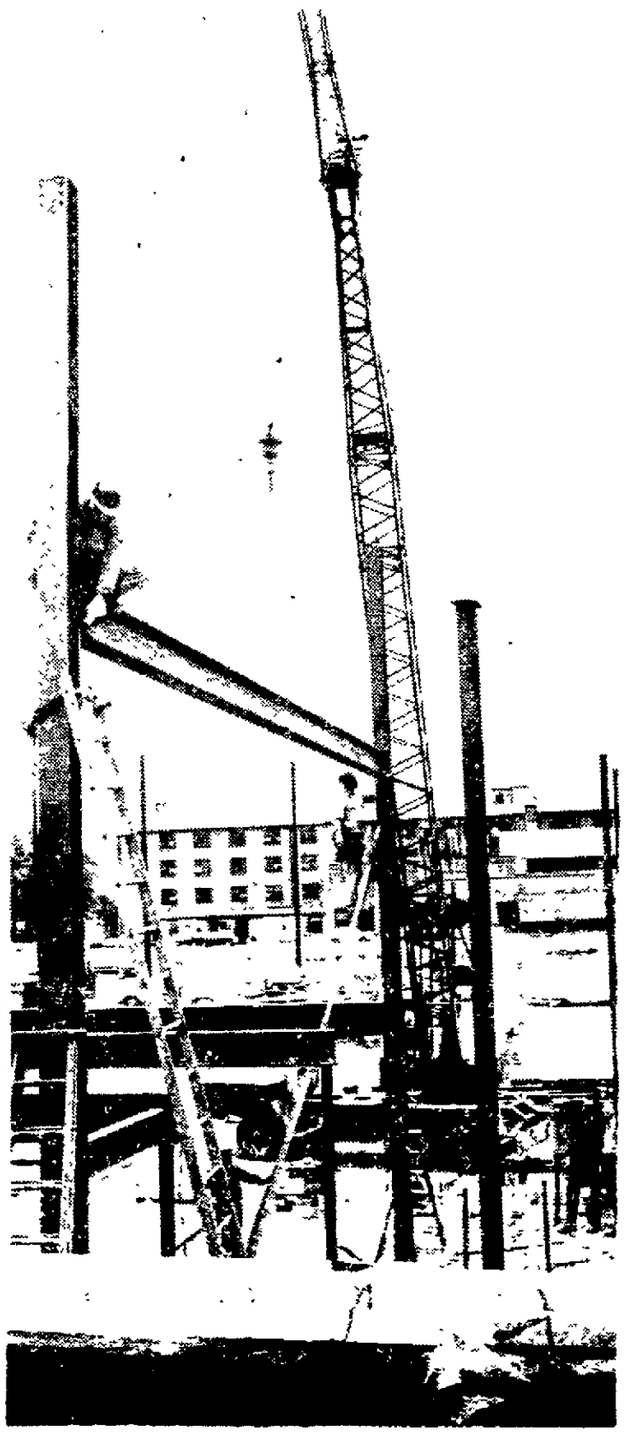

Feit showed slides of the school's camping program, which was initiated eight years ago as a means of motivating the youngsters to study nature.

A native of Mosinee, Feit was graduated from Mosinee High School and completed his graduate work for a Master's Degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1954. He came to Menasha in 1951 and was named principal of the newly-completed Banta school in 1960.

Feit's talk was one in a series by Kiwanis members, outlining their work and giving a brief personal history. He was introduced by William Lewis, club president.

Neenah-Menasha Sell 65,000 JFK Stamps During Past 2 Weeks

MENASHA — Officials of Neenah-Menasha post offices today announced sales of approximately 65,000 John F. Kennedy memorial postage stamps since they went on sale May 27.

The sales are from a total of 155,000 received by the two post offices.

Neenah reports 31,000 available there and Menasha approximately 60,000. Menasha has received two 20,000 and one 50,000 shipments of the stamps and Neenah only one 65,000 shipment.

The stamps are reported moving heavily in general circulation, although many were taken out of circulation by persons who wish them for memorial reasons and others.

Unlike the Kennedy half dollar, which is virtually unavailable in most places although minted in large quantities, stamps are printed by the multi-millions and are in plentiful supply.

Police Not Needed; Boaters Ashore Safely

NEENAH — Robert Koehnke, 1502 Racine St., Appleton, called the Neenah Police Department at 11 p.m. to notify the police boat rescue squad that his son James and a friend had gone onto Lake Winnebago around 7:45 p.m. and hadn't been heard from since.

Sgt. William Richey, boat commander, was notified. While in the process of bringing in a crew, he received a call that the distressed boat had drifted into shore, east of Waverly Beach and the boys were alright.

Convention Delegate

FREMONT — Mrs. Mae Carstensen represented the Dickson Rest Home at the annual spring conference of Wisconsin Nursing Homes at Wausau.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've got troubles. I've got tomato plants. Once they start growing wow-wee. . .do they grow! I've always put sticks in the ground for them to climb on. I tried tying strings to hold them up.

Heloise

I've also got bugs. Spray with whatever I might, we still get bugs on the tomato plants. Do you have an answer?

Hungry

Dear Sir:

You might try strips of old nylon stockings to tie your heavy vines to the stakes. The stockings will not cut the plants. Also, I have found pipe cleaners excellent.

As for the bugs (most times called fruit flies), you can buy mosquito netting and tie over the entire bush. I did not find this too satisfactory after three years of practice! Fruit flies sometimes crawl through it.

The only answer we have, and the cheapest we have found, is to save your plastic bags or buy wax coated sandwich bags (these are inexpensive and are what the housewife ordinarily puts a sandwich in when she packs her school children's lunches). Buy an inexpensive stapler (or one could use rubber bands, safety pins or straight pins), and right after the bloom appears, and as soon as you see that little tomato forming, staple a plastic bag over each bunch of little tomatoes.

As the tomato grows you will be able to see it through this bag. No bug, (as far as I know and have tried for 10 years) can get through the plastic.

Also, the tomato will keep growing, growing and growing in the sun gets through this plastic or wax-coated bag.

If you are real lucky and have huge tomatoes. . .by the time they get that big you can replace the sandwich bag with a larger bag. This is the only answer we have found and it is perfect so far as we are concerned.

These bags keep crawling insects off our tomatoes. They may be attached to the bush with a pipe cleaner.

By using these bags one can pick off the ripe tomato and replace the bag over the rest of them until they are ready for eating. . .

Dear Heloise:

God bless the woman who suggested taping a plastic bag inside a cupboard door to store lids to plastic containers. She has saved me immeasurable time and temper.

Since trying this hint, I have added three more bags to the door.

In one I keep gravy and sauce mix envelopes, in another salad dressing mixes and in the third soft drink envelopes.

This allows me to see at a glance just what needs replacing while doing my marketing and has certainly omitted a great deal of the clutter from my kitchen drawers.

Joan Holgium

Dear Heloise:

My fruit and vegetables stay fresh and crisp for long periods of time since I have tried this idea.

I place a cake rack (this is a little wire rack, ladies, that can be bought at any store) in the bottom of my crisper (Ladies, that's the drawer in the bottom of your refrigerator) and then put a dish towel on top of the wire rack. Now I put my fruit and vegetables on top of this.

I find that my fruits and vegetables do not rot and become mushy (That means deteriorate so fast! And all these remarks in parenthesis were tested and written by guess who?)

And Nancy is as right as gold. I tried her terrific idea . . .

The hospital's expanded physical therapy department was able to give [illegible] during the year, the X-ray department gave 1,935 treatments and took more than 12,000 X-rays as part of its service to patients.

The use of other facilities were greatly increased. More than 980 electro - encephalograms were taken during the year. Complete Television Of Six Menasha Streets

MENASHA—Public Works Director Robert Poss announced today that televising of sewers on six streets here has been completed. Poss said the investigation was "for the most part, excellent."

Sewers televised were on Eighth, Ninth, Ida, Water and Racine Streets and on Borenz Court.

Poss said "one or two spots" will require further study and some repairs will have to be made.

One of the largest trouble spots was a 23 foot section on Eighth Street. The street, as well as four of the others, is due to be paved.

Poss noted one of the primary reasons for the television study is to do repairs before streets are paved and thus eliminate having to tear up newly paved streets to get at sewers.

The television, which is operated by the American Pipe Cleaning Co. of Minneapolis, is expected to continue in the Fox Valley area throughout the summer and fall.

Funds for televising the sewers were appropriated in early 1963.

The activity is expected to save the city a large sum in discovering defects prior to street work.

Pops Seem Tops In Unusual Ways

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Again I would like to share my Fathers Day collection with gentle reader Once, long ago, I served as an editor and conductor of a Fathers Day contest for children.

The youngsters wrote letters in praise of their fathers and I excerpted some of the most interesting. They're timely now — Fathers Day comes next Sunday, June 21 All the excerpts here are from real letters:

My pops tops When we moved from the old house to our farm my pop bought me three pigs so I wouldn't be lonesome for my boy friends. —Mauston

House My dad worries more about us boys than he does about our sisters. That's because boys grow up to BE somebody but all girls does is lay around till they gets married. — Kimberly.

My pa lets our ma lick us so then we will be mad at her, not he. — LaCrosse

I like my pop very much because when I was born he just took one look at me and then name me after hisself.—Kimberly

When my mother is sick, daddy will go out of his way to show her short cuts to make her work easier. He's a sport —Algoma

Sometimes we sit in the living room and dad takes out his drums and I take out my accordine and then pretty soon we wine up in the garage.—Milwaukee

Mine is not a true blue red headed pop. He wears a tope.—Milwaukee

One time he gave me a present of a new bike and good pants, half of which I rooned. — Appleton

He says he is teeching me to play base ball but I don't know wether he is teeching me or I am teeching him.—Ellison Bay

He worked hard all his life and now he doesn't have nothing except 16 kids and no money. Not much, is it?—Milwaukee

My pop can lick the kid next doorses father.—Milwaukee

My pop is the best pop in the world but I cant think up words to say so what the heck is the use of lyin?—Milwaukee

My pop likes to watch the boxing fights on Pat's Blue Ribbon. Milwaukee

My pop never argies with my mom. What he does is he puts on his hat and he goes outside so they won't be naggering at each other. He says it is the best way to stop an argiment but I don't know. I tried it one time when ma was after me about mudding up the living room and pop he came out after me and what he done was, he made me come back and then what he done was, he give me a licking. So I don't know so good about his sistem. —Oconto

My pop don't have too much life yet because he is 41 already, but mom says he was a real dandy when he was yung.—Escanaba

Pop played ball with us when the seesin started "hen he got up to bat he hollered all over the place, like TH OW IT IN HERE KID, GIVE ME THE OLD HOT ONE, LETS HAVE A FAST ONE IN HERE So the kid did and pop cawt it right in the mowth. He still plays with us and he still bats, but he don't holler nothing no more.—Milwaukee

My pop knows how to make rabbits get born One night he took us out to the rabbit hutch and he said some magic words. Next morning, BAM, six rabbits.—Wautoma

He clum up a tree to rescue our cat which couldn't get down. But by accident the cat got on the top of his bold head and like to cut him to peices. Pop threw the cat back in the tree and spent the next too hours trying to hit her with a rock.—Green Bay

He don't hit me or nothing. He says funny stuff like if I do bad again he will make out like he is a loan mower and the seat of me is a acre of grass. — Appleton

Whenever it is that I want something real bad I wait until pop comes home with red eyes. Then I ask him. He says yes every darn time.—Wautoma

Move to Seat Reynolds Appointees Fails in Conservation Commission

Chairman Guido Rahr Rules Motion Out of Order Pending Supreme Court Decision

BY JOHN LEE
Post-Crescent News Service

WOODRUFF — A motion to seat two new members to the Wisconsin Conservation Commission failed Friday by a ruling of Commission Chairman Guido Rahr, Manitowoc.

An attorney for Martin Hansen, Mellen, and Harold Jankowski of Milwaukee, both recent appointees of Gov. John Reynolds, appeared at the opening of the commission with a request that the commission recognize the recent appointments and seat them at this time.

The attorney, Sverre Tinglum, Mellen, said if the motion to seat them is made on the basis of their reappointment last month by Reynolds, that incumbents Rahr and Charles Smith, Wausau, do not participate in the vote.

The motion was made by Commissioner John Lynch, Ladysmith, and seconded by John Schumacher, Shawano.

Out of Order

However, Rahr ruled the motion out of order.

Rahr said arguments on seating of the Reynolds appointees will be before the Supreme Court June 25.

Rahr read an attorney general's opinion stating "until commissioners duly appointed and confirmed by the State Senate, Atty. Gen. George Thompson has ruled that incumbent commissioners will retain their seats on the commission."

He said such confirmation of the appointees can not be made until the legislature reconvenes in November.

This was a second effort by Hanson and Jankowski to occupy the seats for which they were originally appointed by Reynolds in 1963.

The commission also agreed fully with the State Conservation Congress for a variable quota on deer harvest at 35 per cent of the requested harvest.

The northeastern Wisconsin counties, following an appearance of Assemblyman Paul Altonsi, the quota for Vilas, Forest and Oneida Counties was set at 25 per cent.

Also retained is the provision that 25 per cent of variable quota licenses be distributed in the counties where the quota is in effect.

Report on Knife Held Confidential

Spice Says Utensil Still May Be Kilsdonk Murder Weapon

A crime laboratory report on an examination of a stainless steel knife found in a bedroom chair in a Black Creek home which last December was the scene of a brutal knife slaying, is being studied by Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice.

Spice said contents of the report which was mailed to him Friday morning are confidential He said he expects a further report from the crime laboratory concerning specific questions about the weapon.

Spice said information in the report does not discount the possibility the knife was used in the murder of Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 28, in her farm kitchen Dec. 18. Mrs. Kilsdonk died of wounds received from an unknown assailant.

Tenants now occupying the farm home discovered the knife earlier this week stuffed inside the lining of a bedroom chair The knife was then turned over to sheriff authorities who took the knife to Madison for examination by crime laboratory specialists.

Spice said he intends to discuss the knife with Marvin Kilsdonk, husband of the slain woman, who is living with his parents in Little Chute. Spice did not indicate when he intended to call Kilsdonk in for questioning.

The bedroom chair and other furniture was left in the home for the tenant's use by Kilsdonk The home was rented last month to a former Appleton couple.

Budget Up $95,727 Over 63-64

NEW LONDON—The 1964-65 proposed New London school district budget is up $95,727 over last year. The total budget is $998,299.

Of this amount, $557,800 will be collected by taxes The remaining $440,499 is expected to be picked up in anticipated revenues

The total school tax rate will be up $2 90 based on equalized valuation. The equalized value of the district is $40,139,800, compared with $38,211,200 last year.

Debt Service

Although the $19.97 total tax rate is higher than last year's $17 07, it is due to the new high school debt service rather than the operating tax levy.

Broken down, the rate shows $13.89 for operational tax compared with $13.90 last year; $1 67, elementary debt service; $2 90 high school debt service and $1.50, sinking fund rate.

A comparison of the proposed budget shows general control to be $30,515 compared with $32,-245 last year: instruction, $684,-226 compared with $629,640 and operation, $73,559 compared with $72,724. Maintenance jumped from $26,119 last year to $30,-047 this year and other disbursements, $28,703, compared with $27,819 last year.

Auxiliary Services

Auxiliary services increased $12,003 to bring the total to $13,-053 This is due to having the milk program in the budget this year. In previous years it was omitted from the budget and run through FFA records.

Transportation is $80,770, compared to $77,108 last year; community services, $1,550, compared with $1,000 last year; capital outlay, $50,873, compared with $29,863 last year, and the contingent fund remains at $5,000.

The budget is slated for adoption by the board of education and will be presented to the electors at a general meeting July 22.

Dean Lewis, county party vice chairman, said a crowd of about 300 was expected for the $5 reception an dinner for Reynolds at the Darboy Club. The reception is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The attack on Thompson came from Bronson G. LaFollette, Democratic candidate for attorney general.

LaFollette said, "For the past two years Thompson has made the attorney general's office a partisan office and has thrown many of Reynolds plans into a chaotic state.

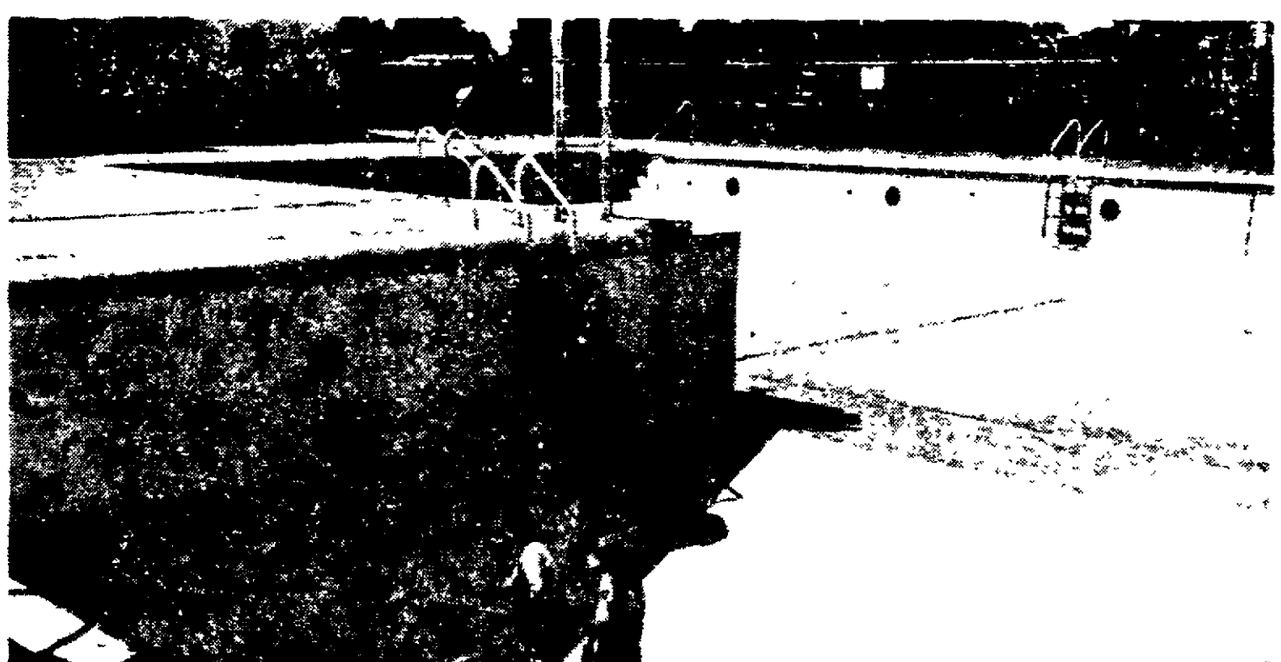

"Reynolds," LaFollette said, "has been forced to hire special attorneys at taxpayers' expense to prove the legality of some of his most minimal plans. To the present attorney general, the law has come to mean a partisan thing."

'Crucial' Fight

He called the fight for reapportionment of the legislative branch of government at all levels "crucial to the survival of a democracy that is truly representative and truly responsive to the needs of the people."

Catholic Priest Lists Ways to Christian Unity

KAUKAUNA — A Catholic priest Thursday night gave a Protestant congregation of 200 here three things "we can do to promote Christian unity."

The Rev. Orville Janssen, editor of the "Green Bay Register," listed these:

—"Help other Christians to live more faithfully their Christianity.

—"Listen to God speaking to us through other Christians — this points out the limitations of minds which cannot grasp all the truth at one time."

—"Seek greater areas of collaboration with others."

Father Janssen spoke on "Roman Catholicism and the Vatican Council" at a meeting in Immanuel United Church of Christ.

"The missionary question triggered it all off, but I like to think that the main thrust for unity comes from the internal demands of the teachings of Christ rather than from the external pressures of communism."

Father Janssen said the seed for unity was planted in both Catholic and Protestant tradition about 50 years ago and is "not something unleased on the world by the council or by Pope John."

Daniel E. Frenzel, 606 S. Apple Ave., Marshfield, appeared in municipal court later Thursday and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when he was unable to pay a $100 fine on a disorderly conduct charge.

Frenzel and a companion, whom he said he did not know, entered Simpson's Restaurant about 1 a.m. and after eating a steak attempted to leave without paying.

Dale Simpson, owner of the restaurant, gave chase and caught Frenzel a short distance away. The other youth escaped and an investigation is now being conducted by city police to learn his identity.

Guido Rahr Gets Citations From Conservation Groups

Post-Crescent News Service

WOODRUFF — Conservation Commission Chairman Guido Rhar, whose seat in the commission was challenged Friday by Martin Hanson of Mellen, received two citations from state organizations during the course of the June meeting.

After accepting plaques from the Daniel Boone Hunter's Club of Milwaukee and the Wisconsin Future Farmers of America for outstanding work in conservation, Rahr quipped, "This goes like a swan - song script looks like my last meeting?"

Charles Bries of the Milwaukee County Sportsmen's Alliance presented Rarh with the Boone plaque for leaders hip in resource management. Tom Black, state president of the FFA, gave Rarh the Honorary Wisconsin Farmer Degree, highest honor bestowed by the Future Farmers on the state level.

Seat Challenge

At the start of the commission session, Rarh's seat was challenged by Hanson, who demanded a vote by the commissioners on seating him to fulfill the appointment made by Gov. John Reynolds.

Commissioners John Lynch of Ladysmith and Jack Schumacher of Shawano moved for a ballot, but the action was ruled out of order by Rahr who based his action on an opinion by the State Atty Gen. George Thompson.

County Asks Extension for Oshkosh Port

OSHKOSH — Extension of the east-west runway to accommodate jet planes and expansion of the airport to the south because of safety hazards at the north end of the north-south runway are two projects being requested by the Winnebago County aviation committee.

The committee will present a resolution at Tuesday's county board meeting asking permission to request federal aid for such projects. The committee's request for such aid must be submitted to the state aeronautics commission by July 3 for inclusion in the 1965 federal airport aid fiscal year budget.

Committee members Thurs- County funds would be provided later if these projects receive approval from the state and from the Federal Aviation Agency. No money is being requested at this time.

Coincident with this action was a letter from the newly-formed Citizens Committee for the Present Winnebago County Regional Airport which was formed by the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce. This committee, headed by Carl Biederman, had its first meeting Monday night and had present at that meeting representatives from industry and airline users from Oshkosh, Neenah-Menasha, Fond du Lac, Ripon and Berlin.

"Regardless of the outcome of the CAB's review of Examiner Stodola's decision, the Winnebago County Airport will need improvements as well as eventual expansion to meet future aircraft needs by 1975," the committee wrote in its letter presented to the aviation committee by Richard Thern Thursday night.

Airport Manager Steve Wittman presented suggestions for future needs which he had obtained from various pilots using the airport facility.

Probe Asked by Congressmen

Schadeberg, Laird Join GOP Delegation On Integrity Issue

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Two Wisconsin GOP congressmen, Henry C. Schadeberg, Burlington, and Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, want a "sweeping investigation of any illegal, immoral and improper activities" by House members or employes.

They joined with 29 other House Republicans Thursday in offering resolutions demanding the probe which is an outgrowth of the Bobby Baker case.

Apparently, according to Laird, Baker and several members of House committees were involved in "kickbacks and payoffs" on the new District of Columbia Stadium construction.

'White Elephant'

Ironically, the stadium is now a virtual "white elephant" because it is not being patronized sufficiently for sports events by District of Columbia residents.

Laird said he and the other Republicans who introduced identical resolutions wanted to support Sen. John Williams of Delaware in his efforts to clear up the Baker case.

Laird also said he and his colleagues did not feel "a veil of secrecy should surround either the House or the Senate in connection with certain aspects of the Baker case which apparently have been covered up."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Dr. Syeerd L. Bonting is a scientist whose faith not only has led him to search for answers in the biochemical field for the betterment of mankind, but for a better understanding of the words of God in relation to the words of science.

A native of Holland, Dr. Bonting came to the United States in 1952. He has always been confronted with the serious business of being a Christian and a scientist, and he saw his particular task two ways; first, "to understand the meaning of being a scientist in terms of Christian faith," and second, "to make more up to date Christians through science." Dr. Bonting felt the need so great that he began to study for ordination in the Episcopal Church in 1957 while continuing his research as a scientist. He became a priest last January.

Today Dr. Bonting is working to relate his two fields. During the week he toils as a biochemist, and on weekends he is curate at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Bethesda, Md. He says, "The scientist is called to use God's gifts of our intelligence and our senses to deepen man's insight into God's creation and to utilize it better for man's purpose."

Yankee Pastor to American Catholics in Roman Church

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

ROME (AP)—A cheerful Connecticut Yankee is pastor to 3,000 American Catholics in Rome — and runs one of the world's most unusual parishes.

The Rev. James F. Cunningham has in his care the Church of Santa Susanna, assigned by the Vatican as the parish church for Americans in this largely Roman Catholic city of 450 churches.

The energetic Paulist priest never knows when he will be faced with:

—The president of Italy showing up unexpectedly at Sunday Mass;

Portable Altars

—Sudden need of 18 portable altars in his small churches so American bishops arriving for the Vatican Ecumenical Council may say Mass;

—Ticket requests for the Pope's weekly general audience a few minutes before it starts;

—Italian tourists wandering up the main aisle to sightsee while one of his three assistant priests is preaching at Sunday Mass.

Father Cunningham has had to handle all of these situations.

His infielder days with the boys club baseball team in his native Waterbury, Conn., taught him to intercept intruders deftly during Mass. He gently but firmly encourages them—in perfect Italian—to be seated or come back later.

The job that Father Cunningham has handled the past 12 years takes unusual organizing abilities because it's only half the assignment. The pastorship of Santa Susanna's always falls on the procurator-general of the Paulist Fathers, the man who serves as Vatican liaison for a religious order.

Handling more than one job at a time is routine for the tall, erect pastor who keeps an almost year-around tan by managing to squeeze in golf regularly with friends at the Vatican Secretariat of State.

By the time he was 21 he had been a pharmacist for seven years, getting a junior pharmacy license during the World War I days of shortage in that skill. Today Father Cunningham is still licensed in Connecticut, having delayed entry into the seminary a few months so he could qualify for the standard license.

"This was unfinished business—and I hate any unfinished business," he explains.

Ordained 1930

After ordination to the priesthood in 1930 he won a master's degree in philosophy, then spent three years in Los Angeles. There he combined university spiritual duties with appointment as federal arbiter for silk and wool workers in the garment industry.

In 1936 he helped organize the Paulist Fathers' first trailer mission at Winchester Tenn., traveling through the South preaching and instructing.

With World War II a year away, Father Cunningham was

Your Problems

Mother's Instincts Better Than All Advice in World

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently in reply to a mother who was concerned about her daughter you wrote, "If you have done your job well you need not worry." What I would like to know is, how do I know if I am doing my job well?

Landers

Our three children are from two to eight years of age. I try to be a good mother but I keep wondering what I am doing wrong — or worse yet, leaving undone.

I dread the time when our children will be teen-agers. I hear and read so much about today's "teen - age monsters" that I wonder if I will be able to cope with them. Most of my friends whose children are older than ours have their hands full and they don't know where to turn.

What can I do to now to instill in our children the proper values so they will grow up to be solid, well-adjusted adults? — Looking Ahead

Dear Looking: The fact that you are thinking now of how to instill in your children decent values so that they will be solid, well - adjusted adults is good evidence that you yourself are solid and sensible.

A mother's instincts are far better than all the advice in the world. May I suggest a few guidelines to backstop the instincts?

Let your children know you love them and that they are important to you. Make each child feel worthy and useful in his own right so he will not be driven to out-do his brothers and sisters in a compulsive or destructive manner.

Insist that each child accept responsibility for himself and his belongings. Children who grow up with chores to do develop a living pattern of dependability, cooperation and usefulness.

Be consistent. Say what you mean and mean what you say. Give your children everything they have coming — both rewards and punishment.

Make friends of your children. Keep the arteries of communication open. Talk to them and listen to them when they talk to you. This should start at birth. The parents who wait until their children are "old enough to understand" wake up to find that that day has come and gone and that somehow they missed it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away last year and left very little insurance.

I don't want to leave my preschool children home and go to work because now that they have no father they need me more than ever. I read an ad seeking someone to address envelopes at home which sounds tempting. It promises at least $50 a week. Is there a catch somewhere? How do I find out? — Millie

Dear Millie: There may be a catch. Write for the particulars and ask your Better Business Bureau to look at the material they send you. Some of these make-money-at-home outfits are curvy. What they really want to do is grab your dollar by selling you special equipment, an instruction book, or stationery. Once hooked, they'll tell you your work is not up to standard — and you've been had.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's mother passed away recently. Several of our friends sent lovely floral offerings which we appreciated a great deal.

When some of these friends came to call after the funeral, we thanked them for their beautiful flowers and told them how much it meant to us that they had been so thoughtful.

Yesterday I told my husband I was ordering some personally monogramed white note paper so I could write thank-you notes to all the people who had sent flowers. He said, "It isn't necessary. We thanked most of the people verbally."

I feel we should send notes, even if we did thank them in person. He insists I am wrong. Am I? Please settle it. — MES.

Dear MES: He is wrong. Go ahead and send the thank-you notes. When folks go to trouble and expense to say it with flowers, the least you can do is say it in writing.

'Planning' Couple Requests Typical Costs of Having Baby

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: I have found your articles offer so many helpful hints to young couples who are learning how to plan and build a happy home life based on a satisfactory budget. Our married life has been filled with two years of sharing and building.

We planned and saved for a trip to Europe our first year of marriage. Our second project was planning and saving for a house of our own. This second dream came true two months ago.

In anticipation of our third dream, we seek your advice. Would you please give us an indication as to the initial costs of having a baby—equipment, basic wardrobe, etc? And the approximate cost per month for feeding and caring for an infant during his first and second year.

Thank you for your assistance.

Mrs. H V., Fort Wayne, Ind

Dear Mrs V.:

You're my favorite candidate for "The girl who got married and lived happily ever after" I'm glad to be able to share your letter with other young couples who may be wondering if the bother of budgeting really pays off. Your testimonial ought to be a pretty good persuader.

As for the cost of having a baby, here are some estimates made by the American Hospital Association:

Based on a five-day hospital stay, room and board, etc , averages $484 15, and additional days would cost $36.80 each for mother and $10 for the baby.

Of course, expenses will vary with hospital and localities. An actual cost-list, reported by a young friend of mine who just had a baby and was in the hospital for three days, breaks down like this:

Hospital, $190; blood test, $10; obstetrician's fee, $250; pediatrician's services, $25. Total, $475.

Her hospital expenses, itemized, were: delivery room, $50; nursery, $36; medication, $17; room and board, $87. Total $190.

The Community Council of Greater New York which gathers its cost estimates from various agencies, finds that $40.50 will cover the following: bedding, $16 50; formul and feeding equipment, plus other personal care items, $17; miscellaneous needs, $7 Furniture and furnishings can amount to about $185 a major reason why so many young mothers borrow major items from family and friends. The young mother I mentioned figures she spent $105 for the layette, including bassinet, crib, diapers.

Statistics show the approximate cost of feeding and caring for an infant, boy or girl, is $4.90 a week or $21 a month for the first year. This is figured on 4.3 weeks in a month The amount is expected to cover formula, medical check-ups, diaper service. clothing, drugs and incidentals. These figures are basic. aimed at the Low Income family. You will no doubt be able to allow a little larger budget. However, the temptation to buy the baby everything in sight, especially the first one, is a natural financial hazard, so remember that a baby really needs time and attention more than money.

You can expect expenses to increase the second year: $6.45 a week or $27.74 a month. This should remain a basic figure until the child is about 5. Of course, you can always economize on the number of garments. sheets. and blankets a baby has, since everything should be washable anyway With today's home laundry equipment it doesn't take long to get things washed. dried and back in circulation.

You can get Mary Feeley's handy Budget Leaflet by writing to her in care of Appleton Post-Crescent Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Blood Factor Doesn't Imply Susceptibility

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand that only about 13 per cent of the people have blood that is Rh negative. Does this mean that they are weaker or more susceptible to disease? Is it likely that a woman's children will be Rh negative, too?

—Mrs. L.W.

Dr. Molner

Rh negative does not mean that a person is weaker or more susceptible to disease. It's simply a different type of blood.

You are aware of the usual blood types, A, B, AB and O, and you know that when blood transfusions are given, the type must be compatible with the recipient.

Rh is still another blood factor (it was first found in 1937). In this regard you have only two kinds to consider Rh positive and Rh negative.

Being Rh negative doesn't make any difference at all—until the person has some contact with Rh positive. Then antibodies form to combat any further contact with Rh positive blood cells And the next contact with Rh positive blood results in clumping and destruction of red blood cells.

I won't try to go into the mechanism involved. It can happen, it doesn't necessarily happen to all people with Rh negative blood.

One dangerous consequence is hemolysis, a violent form of blood disease, which can occur in a baby born to an Rh negative mother, usually if the father is Rh positive. Even this does not occur unless the mother has been sensitized, either by a transfusion or by previously having had an Rh positive baby.

Such women can have children who are either Rh positive or Rh negative. It usually does not happen with first pregnancy—the tendency increases after the second or third baby.

Statistically, the problem develops only about once in 40 or 50 births when the mother is negative, the father positive. And it is now possible to save such babies by a blood exchange —they get what is for them a massive transfusion. Most of their blood is withdrawn and at the same time fresh, compatible blood is transfused. This procedure has saved the lives of thousands of babies.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had an infection of the upper eyelid for about six months. It has become very itchy, red and crusty My doctor prescribed an antibiotic ointment without relief. Should I continue this treatment or go back to my doctor? I am retired and this is an additional expense.—Mrs. S. P.

To let such an infection continue is dangerous. There is no way in the world to guarantee that a given treatment will succeed; if the ointment you now have is not adequate, another treatment might be used. You should by all means go back to your doctor. Unless he sees you again, he cannot know whether some change is needed.

As to the cost, explain your situation to your doctor so he can arrange a fee you can afford. The important thing is to protect the eye.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain polyps of the womb. Are they cancerous?—M.C.

Polyps can grow on a mucus membrane or lining of the womb and cervix. It is not clear why these growths appear—there are all sorts of them, benign tumors and otherwise—which we can't fully explain, but we know they occur.

Such polyps can cause bleeding. Some become cancerous, and hence are best removed as soon as detected.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

THOUGHTLESS GUEST

Dear Louise: My husband's sister has been visiting us for 3 weeks and we are fit to be tied. I wonder if you can figure out a solution for any future visits. Her television programs are not to our liking. She'll turn to her favorite channels right after breakfast and keeps it up every chance she gets until it is time to go to bed. Not once has she asked if we like a certain program. Even if neighbors drop in, she continues turning the dial to her favorites and pays nuo attention to anybody else except to say how do you do. My husband refuses to reprimand her and I feel that I can't.

Miss Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

It is obvious that your husband's sister is selfish, thoughtless, and inconsiderate and extremely rude. With some advance thinking and planning, I think you can at least partially curb her bad mann?ers even if you must put your TV set temporarily out of commission. When guests come, you might turn off the programs. As hostess, it is your duty to your other guests to do it and to insist if you must. If you and your husband feel that you must put up with these constant programs that aren't to your liking, you might consider renting an extra set and place it in your guest room. You could even tell her that you have rented the extra set because you and your husband prefer to watch other programs so that "all three of us will be happy." I also suggest that you make more social plans, especially for the afternoons and/or evenings. What you do can be inexpensive but it would primarilyl be for her entertainment as your house guest.

'Equals' Don't Look That Way

It is customary to use the word "equals" to describe cards in sequence, such as king-queen-jack. You can use any of those cards to win a trick or to force out the ace, and any will have the same effect. This is true logically, but not always psychologically.

Suppose you are declarer at four hearts. You cover the opening lead with dummy's jack, losing to the queen. Back comes a club, and you win with the king.

If possible, you want to take three spade tricks. You want to lead the jack or ten for a finesse, and if you consider those cards "equals" it won't matter which you lead.

Does Matter

In practice, it does matter. If you lead the ten of spades, West will not immediately see what you are after and he will probably play low. Your ten of spades will therefore win the trick.

Having won that trick you can lead the jack of spades with the intention of winning the trick in dummy. If West fails to cover with the king, you will overtake with dummy's queen. Then you will cash the ace of spades to get rid of the low club.

If you began the spades with the jack, West might see the plot and might therefore cover immediately with the king. This would limit you to two spade tricks instead of three.

In general, lead the higher or highest of equals when you would enjoy seeing the next player cover with a higher card; but lead the lowest of equals when you would enjoy seeing the next player play low.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S A Q 5 4 H 8 6 D K J 6 4 C 10 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. You plan to raise spades next, thus showing a hand too strong for a single raise but not strong enough for a double raise.

TAFFY'S TIPS

By Dolly Martin

A GOOD BREAKFAST

To be sure you get a good breakfast every morning, these foods are needed. Always eat Numbers 1, 2, 3, plus 4 or 5.

1. Juice or fruit
2. Cereal
3. Milk or milk beverage
4. Bread with butter or margarine
5. Other foods such as eggs, meat, etc.

Just so you don't miss eating a well balanced breakfast, why not keep a reminder in your room in the form of a chart like Taffy's? If you can check off a good breakfast for just one month, you will form the habit and never have to be reminded. And even if you are hoping to lose a few pounds, don't start by skipping breakfast. However, you may drink skim milk and use it also in your cereal. And go easy on the butter.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Yes. A study of groups of persons attending a day center for older people in New York, for instance, indicates that visits to health clinics by the same people were reduced more than 50 per cent after they attended the center. You can get to feeling sorry for yourself if you do nothing but stay home and feel miserable. Getting out and doing things with others is usually good for people of any age.

Is public debate an effective way to avoid bias?
Yes —— No ——

No. It might at first seem so. In 1960, both presidential candidates were given equal time to present their views and to attack those of the other. Actually, however, there was a strong tendency for people to listen only to what they themselves believed. While the opposition candidate was speaking, listeners would often "tune him out" by talking, eating snacks, or other diversions. Freedom of speech should be supplemented by a willingness to listen.

Can we tell where a society is headed?
Yes —— No ——

Yes. We often can, and there is one simple test. Who are its heroes? Who are the people who are looked up to and admired, and why? So long as a society has really good people as its heroes, it is relatively safe. When it begins to admire and perhaps to follow "strong" people who are crooked or ruthless, it is headed for destruction. There is this catch. Our real heroes are not the great figures of national history. They are the people in contemporary life whom we envy and admire in our conversations at the dinner table and whom we reward with our attention and support.

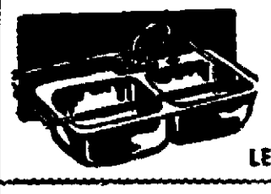

Rate your emotional maturity. Send for "How to Be an Emotional Grownup," and see for yourself why some people never "grow up." The Future of Civil Defense

It would be a false assumption that Outagamie County plans to do away altogether with a crack Civil Defense program and to "junk" four years of work, simply because the county Civil Defense is beyond the planning stage.

What will happen, and what apparently is happening, is that Civil Defense will move from the planning stage into a working stage. County officials are already discussing how this will come about, and latest estimates are that such a move is one year away.

It is good, we feel, that Civil Defense and county officials begin this planning early. Discussion is centered about how to get the job done.

Lee Penney, the Outagamie County and City of Appleton Civil Defense director, is cooperating in the change and is the first to agree that if a stage of complete preparedness can be completed with part-time administration, it should be done.

Penney and county officials have received the tireless cooperation of literally hundreds of volunteer workers in bringing the Civil Defense program to its present state. The efforts of these individuals and efforts of individuals in the future will not be wasted in the stage that is to come.

Civil Defense is one of those areas of government which, until it is pressed into service, can be considered a necessary evil. Fortunately, or unfortunately, there is no way to test how well a Civil Defense program is until it is given the supreme test.

It is best then that the county officials consider the best possible and most economical way to administer such a program. By their actions this week, they are showing this is being done.

France on Southeast Asia

The United States and France are seriously at odds over what should be the course to restore peace in Southeast Asia without a Communist victory. The matter is more serious than appears on the surface because, while the U. S. is presently carrying on the bulk of assistance to anti-Communist forces, French influence is still strong in the area despite the humiliating French military defeat there a decade ago. Vietnamese trade with France, for instance, is much greater than with the United States.

That French defeat in fact may be one major source of the current difference in viewpoints. The French failed miserably in Indochina in great part because they underestimated the importance of the independence movements among colonial peoples after the end of World War II. President de Gaulle was not part of the French government at the time. He did recognize the changes before he became French premier and then president. His tremendous political courage in publicly supporting independence moves of French African colonies and even the breaking off of Algeria, considered by many Frenchmen to be part of France itself, came from the hardheaded recognition of the major self-determinism drive of the modern world.

But despite the change in French officials since Dienbienphu, it is only human for the French to resent an American victory in an area of French failure. This is particularly true because France under De Gaulle has shown a remarkable and, to us, inconvenient, resurgence of influence in its drive for power and glory. France is contrasted here with Great Britain which has watched its empire and its influence crumble with only the grumbles of Sir Winston Churchill to indicate much regret.

Reportedly, however, both President Johnson and President de Gaulle are anxious to close what has been a growing gap between the United States and French aims in Southeast Asia. Undersecretary of State George Ball has been sent to Paris to meet both with De Gaulle and Couve de Murville. And De Gaulle has been trying to counter the charges that he is being soft on communism because of his advocating conferences with Red China over the whole problem of Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia, et al.

But De Gaulle's proposals have serious deterrents. He wants the United States to withdraw from South Viet Nam so that part of the area could be neutralized. This appears to be possible although the neutral government of Laos deteriorated in a short time. But De Gaulle further proposes that after the neutralization of South Viet Nam, the North should be similarly neutralized. How Ho Chih Minh is to be persuaded to give up his control or the Red Chinese to abandon land they have won has not been explained. The third step is reunification but there is obviously no assurance of no aggression from Red China although the area would be under international control.

It is encouraging that De Gaulle at present seems concerned about the split between the United States and France. Since President Johnson seems to have no clear-cut policy at all about Southeast Asia except the issuance of conflicting reports about our power and how serious it all is, perhaps he can get some ideas from De Gaulle.

Epidemic Not Alarming

While Appleton has been in the grips of a German Measles epidemic for several weeks now, health officials give assurance there is really nothing to become alarmed about.

In fact, a prominent Wisconsin physician pointed out the other day that he would rather see the kids breaking out with the measles than some other communicable disease.

Since Jan. 1, several thousand cases of German Measles have been reported in the Fox Cities region, with Appleton setting the pace. Last month was a record-breaker for the city with 1,330 cases reported to the health department.

Parents suspecting their children may have measles should notify the health department.

Health authorities do advise, however, that women who have been pregnant for three months or less should contact their family physician and obtain gamma globulin as a precautionary measure.

The health experts had predicted the measles epidemic would end in May but it looks like we will continue to see red spots for at least a few weeks yet until the outbreak runs its full course.

No Pat Red Answer

One of the most popular of Communist themes is how much better they would be at running the world when they have the opportunity, seized by them if not handed over willingly. The colonial attitude toward races other than Caucasian is repeatedly cited by Reds as an example of discrimination and they make the most of United States civil rights problems and segregation.

But Cheddi Jagan and his Chicago-born Communist wife, Janet, are having their own race problems in British Guiana.

As Premier, Jagan has campaigned for instant independence from Great Britain and he enlisted the East Indians in Guiana to the cause. But although his wife was conveniently appointed Minister of Home Affairs to lend the womanly touch, they both overlooked the considerable Negro population of Guiana. The Negroes were not quite so interested in breaking all ties with England and they weren't quite sure but what the demand to the Indians to support "to the death" such independence moves didn't include them. There were riots, raids upon villages, strikes, strike breakers and continually increasing violence. Jagan at one time even went so far as to ask some British to come back and get things back in order again.

Home Minister Janet has resigned and charges the police force, largely Negro, with persecuting the East Indians. The Communist answer to opposition is extermination and so far there are too many Negroes in Guiana for the Jagans to wipe out.

Here Are the Players in That Confused War in Southeast Asia

BY RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In Southeast Asia, the diplomatic jungle is often as dense as the real one.

Through it dimly can be seen recurrent crises, and the only thing that seems certain is that one crisis will follow another, for a long time to come.

There is, of course, real war and real dying. The scale, for those who lived through two world wars, is minute. But what frightens the world is the sight of great powers — the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States — hovering around the edges of the conflict, all able, indeed pledged, to commit powerful forces if one side goes too far.

Of the three protagonists, the most to be feared is Red China. The Soviet Union, for once, is playing an equivocal role. Khrushchev, having renounced nuclear war, for the obvious reason that the United States can also play that game, is in the peculiar position of wishing to stir up trouble wherever possible, but yet having to appear less belligerent than Communist China.

This is causing him loss of face in Hanoi, headquarters for the Communist drive against South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Ho Chi Minh, the bearded old revolutionary leader in North Viet Nam, was schooled in Moscow. When needing help, he used to knock first on that door. Now he looks to Peiping, because the Red Chinese have seized from the Russians the banner of violent revolution.

FIGHTING BY PROXY

Mao Tze-tung, who may have gotten a bellyfull in Korea, is fighting this war by proxy, and his proxy is Ho Chi Minh. No Red Chinese forces have been found in South Viet Nam or Laos, but Ho is well-supplied with Chinese, Russian and Czech arms. He has about 250,000 men in his People's Army, but his strongest arm is the guerrillas. In South Viet Nam they are called Viet Cong, and in Laos the Pathet Lao. The hard-core men in both these forces were trained in North Viet Nam. Together with volunteers, the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam is estimated at more than 100,000. They control perhaps two-thirds of the country, including the virtual suburbs of Saigon.

In northern Laos, the Pathet Lao alternately advances and recedes, ever threatening yet never quite bringing down the shaky government of Laos.

In Cambodia, Prince Norodom Sihanouk has already surrendered, at least symbolically. He still rules his country, but he has cast off his friendship with the United States. He is sure that Mao will eventually win the struggle in Asia, and he wants to be on the winning side. He helps Mao where he can, by letting the Viet Cong take sanctuary behind his border with South Viet Nam, and by charging South Viet Nam and the United States with border incursions when they chase the Viet Cong. Such charges come easy along a frontier so badly marked that nobody knows where the line is. And when the prince makes charges, Khrushchev and Mao applaud him, with Mao making the louder noise.

THE FRENCH SLANT

Mao is busy elsewhere, too. He is making threatening noises and gestures along his long border with India, and is not averse to growling at Khrushchev where their claims conflict in the wilds of Sinkiang.

Along the great arc of the South China Sea, where Indonesia and Malaysia come together on the island of Borneo, President Sukarno vows that the Indonesians will crush the British, who stand behind the new state. Khrushchev is in the stands, cheering him on. Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman summons 12,000 more men to the Malaysian colors and then goes to consult his astrologer. The seer tells him the present crisis will continue for 18 months. That certainly seems a safe bet.

Into this boiling pot, stir a little French dressing. The French, openly wooing Cambodia, suggest that Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam should be "Neutralized." To some, this brings to mind the posters in the streets of Saigon: "Red Plan — First Neutralize, then Communize." Some even suggest the French were rather hoping the United States would fail in Southeast Asia, as the French had done.

The United States had other ideas. From President Johnson down the policy was firm: Stand fast in Southeast Asia, with whatever it takes.

Moved Out of Illinois To Get to Wisconsin

Editor, Post-Crescent:

There probably is no city more corrupt than Peoria, Ill. It is the last city in the nation to lay any claim to righteousness. And as far as calling Wisconsin people hillbillies, no state has more of them than Illinois. I lived there for more than forty years and when I retired I moved where there are more true Americans per square mile than there are in the entire area covered by the Peoria Journal-Star. Joe McCarthy would not spend fifty billion dollars per year for defense against communism and then sell them wheat on credit. Nor would he waste billions for fighting against them all over the world and get licked, spit at, etc., too boot.

Our Wisconsin schools are so bad that when we moved from Price County to Chicago I skipped a whole grade because we learned as much in six years as it took kids to learn in seven in Illinois. Also I bet this same editorial writer lives on the right side of the town from where the Negroes live. Peoria never did anything for the Negroes in the past and will fight to keep the status quo like all the other hypocrites crying for civil rights.

There is no question that the Negroes have a just complaint, both in the south and north. But Wallace was not all wrong as many will find out when the bill goes into effect.

Looking Backward

Crescent Backs Grant Movement

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 18, 1864.

From every quarter in the State, we receive the information which satisfies us that the first choice of the people of Wisconsin is for Grant for president.

If the voice of the Democracy should insist on the use of the name of Gov. Seymour on the ticket with Grant, we do not see how duty to his suffering country would permit the New York Governor to decline.

There is an earnest desire on the part of a large portion of Democrats, east and west, to have the Convention postponed until the 20th of August. We think such a step a wise one. The future is pregnant with events upon which the result of the Presidency and the very life of the American Constitutional Liberty may depend.

Let us take our time, make all things ready, and then we shall overwhelm Lincolnism henceforth and forever.

Entire City Fire Dept. Should Not be Maligned

Editor, Post-Crescent:

May 27th the Appleton Post-Crescent wrote "Hit Light Duty for Moonlight Injuries." This article was referring to the Appleton Fire Department.

I have waited since May 27 for a more qualified person to answer this article. Since none stepped forward I will attempt the job.

The statement was made "As of a few weeks ago, six men in the department were looking for light duty and two were captains." This in itself is not bad, where I work all 300 of us are looking for light duty, if the article meant six were looking for light duty due to injuries received while on part time work then we are ready to question this statement.

Only two firemen were hurt on part-time jobs. The other four men were either injured while on-duty or are suffering from heart conditions. Two firemen hurt on part-time jobs have since returned to duty fully recovered from their injuries.

It is not my intent to criticize the committee for demanding a fireman to report to work in good physical condition, but I do condemn broad statements that tend to give the complete department a bad name.

Wisconsin Report

State Drive to Adopt Initiative Process Not Apt to Get Very Far

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A Milwaukee women's civic group has begun a movement to popularize the "initiative" process as a means of lawmaking in Wisconsin, thus resurrecting an idea that was one of the favorites in the agrarian reform movement in this state and other states in this part of the country half a century and more ago.

Wyngaard

Under such an amendment to the state constitution, the people as well as the legislature and the courts would be involved directly in the legislative process.

An initiative law might provide machinery for popular nullification of an act of the legislature, or the adoption of law in spite of the resistance of the legislature itself, or the enactment of constitutional amendments without origination in the legislature and its submission of them to the people. A little more than half of the states in the country have the initiative provision in their constitutions in some form. In 14 of the states, according to a recent count, the initiative covers repeal and enactment of laws, and the origination and enactment of constitutional changes.

LITTLE INTEREST HERE

A couple of decades ago it was common for students and others reviewing the "progressive" history of the state, to be curious about the lack of an initiative and referendum provision in Wisconsin law.

Yet the record of Wisconsin in modern times is quite barren of proof that there has been any serious interest in the matter. Once, indeed, in a 1914 program submitted by the old "Progressive movement" of the Republican Party, the idea of initiative was decisively turned back in a referendum proposal. Generally the cause has been associated with liberal movements and parties. Yet in the last decade of the renascence of the Democratic Party of Wisconsin under the leadership of men who were nurtured and trained in the old Progressive Party there has been no hint of any support of the idea of direct popular legislation.

The indifference of the politicians toward the principle very likely suggests that the Milwaukee women's club project will remain an academic exercise, in spite of the cordial reception of some elements of the urban press.

The obvious risk in the initiative is the enactment of hasty and ill-considered legislation when the machinery for lawmaking becomes too simple. The "ham and eggs" precedents of some of the western states which permit popular legislation are suggestive. Especially in times of popular unrest, there is a chance for lawmaking with the initiative system that would not survive the checks and balances of the traditional method.

CONSERVATIVE NOW

There are signs, moreover, that this is an inauspicious time for the promotion of the initiative. There is an abundance of evidence that the legislature is more advanced in its attitudes on many questions than is the electorate itself.

Only two months ago the electors of the state rejected three constitutional amendments that were passed easily by their representatives in the legislature. Almost surely there would have been more support in the legislature for the highway construction program than was recorded by the voters themselves on their highway referendum ballot.

Another suggestive fact is that the law in this state for years has provided for popular initiative in lawmaking in cities, by way of petitions that can force city councils to act, or to submit issues to a popular and decisive vote. That law is so rarely used that memory doesn't recall a major example of ordinance by popular initiative in any of the larger cities of Wisconsin.

The climate indicates that the initiative and referendum idea will remain a subject for intermittent academic discussion, rather than a serious possibility for adoption in this state, barring more serious legislative default and antagonizing of public opinion than has yet been shown.

State Forestry Unit Endorses Harvest Plan

Allows Menominee Enterprises Greater Cutting Flexibility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state forestry division has endorsed a revision of the state-imposed forest management plan of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., which controls the harvesting of timber from the rich Menominee Indian forest in Menominee County.

The recommendation went to the state conservation commission Friday for its expected approval.

The objective is to provide a more flexible method of harvesting the various species and the various age classes of timber, but it will not result in any increase in the allowable cut under state regulations, explained W. Welsh, chief of the cooperative forestry service who reviewed the proposal filed more than a year ago by the Indian corporation.

State control of the harvest from the forest was one of the provisions written into the law when the legislature created the separate Menominee County several years ago following termination of federal control over the former Menominee Indian reservation.

"The purpose of this revision is to provide more and better flexibility in the harvesting and utilization of various wood products available on Menominee Enterprises, Inc., lands," Welsh told the commission.

The changes in harvesting controls were worked out with the assistance of a special committee of experts representing private and public services, and a consultant employed by the Menominee corporation.

The big forest holdings of the Indians represent the principal assets of the corporation, and supply raw materials for the cooperatively owned lumber mill in the county.

Allouez Women Protest Alleged News Bias

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—About two dozen town of Allouez housewives representing a group favoring a high school in the town marched in front of the Press-Gazette for almost 2 hours Friday morning carrying signs protesting alleged news discrimination.

The women, who at times were accompanied by youngsters, said they were members of a women's group calling itself "Boosters for Education in Allouez K-12."

The marchers convened about 9 a.m. and walked in orderly fashion along the E. Walnut and N. Madison Street sides of the building.

No Disturbances

There were no disturbances, although the demonstration caused small groups of pedestrians and news cameramen to crowd the sidewalk areas briefly. Traffic also slowed as motorists watched the marchers and several blew their horns.

The marchers carried hand-lettered signs with such messages as "Editor Go Home," "We Are Sick of Slanted News," "Too Much Brainwashing," "Print All the Letters," and "Press-Gazette Leave Us Alone."

One of the women asked a reporter, "Do you think we'll make the paper tonight?" She was told they probably would.

John Glenn Is Able to Walk

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Former astronaut Lt. Col. John Glenn has recovered sufficiently from an inner ear disorder to work in his yard and walk around the neighborhood.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief of the Manned Spacecraft Center's medical program, said Glenn was still suffering dizzy spells. "But he is a million times better than he was a month ago," Berry said.

Cmdr. Alan Shepard Jr., who contracted the ailment from a cold or virus, is still suffering from an inner ear disorder.

"Al is getting along fine," Berry said. "He still has a slight hearing loss but the dizziness has disappeared. He can fly but only as a passenger."

In Keene, Texas

Seventh-Day Adventists Do Business as Usual Sundays

BY BOB HORTON

KEENE, Tex. (AP)—The sun rises with a freshly-scrubbed look in this community of 1,600 in wooded hills just off U.S. 67 southwest of Dallas.

It is Sunday, but the one church, an angular, modern brick building which seats 1,400, remains empty and silent.

A man in blue denim cap and overalls sets out for work. A housewife in a homemade pink bonnet hoes a garden. Boys and girls stroll about a college campus.

Post Office

The post office, which has handled mail here since the 1890s, has a steady stream of customers.

Sunday, a day of rest for much of the world, is the first work day of the week here.

Keene is a town of Seventh-day Adventists, a sect which observes Saturday—the seventh day on the calendar—as the sabbath.

Adventists do not eat meat, use lipstick, smoke, drink or dance. They are dedicated to nurturing the spiritual life of themselves and others.

Sect Diet

"We may be fanatical," Ruth Hestand says with a smile, "but scientists today are beginning to recommend the kind of foods we've eaten for years — whole grains, nuts and fruits."

Mrs. Hestand is postmaster of the only U.S. post office open on Sunday. It closes at noon Friday and remains closed all day Saturday, the day of church services and Sabbath School.

Mrs Hestand, white-haired and freckled, uses no lipstick, rouge or jewelry.

The human body, Adventists say, is a thing of beauty which needs no additional adorning.

Keene's Adventists are among some 300,000 in the United States and Canada.

Matthew 24:14

With missionaries in 190 countries, Adventists cite St. Matthew 24:14 as the cornerstone of their faith:

"And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come."

Adventists believe this means that when every single living person has been told the gospel, the world will end, Christ will return physically to earth, and the righteous shall live in happiness forever.

No wild-eyed, religious street cries assemble here. Most Adventists in Keene—90 per cent of the 1,600 population belongs to the Church — are a slow-talking, sociable lot.

No one except the fellow who owns the filling station along U.S. 67 sells tobacco in Keene. He's not an Adventist.

Started 1894

Mrs. Hestand, who attended Keene's Adventist-sponsored Southwestern Union College in 1913, tells how the school and town started in 1894.

After sizing up a fertile tract for purchase, she says, the Adventists hacked into the woods and started the college in one small building. The town spread as the land was cleared.

The Keene settlers spent the first months in tents, cooking over wood-burning stoves by the light of kerosene lamps.

The town has a marshal, but no jail.

"That doesn't mean we don't have our share of misdemeanors," says former Mayor Joseph H. Bischoff, a pharmaceutical salesman who came here from New Jersey.

Lawrence W. Murtfeldt, vice president of manufacturing for Consolidated Paper, Inc., Wisconsin Rapids, has been named president of the Paper Industry Management Association. He was elected at the association's convention this week.

Hortonville Subdivision Gets Conditional Okay From Board

HORTONVILLE — Conditional approval of the preliminary plat of Black Otter Lake subdivision was granted at the village board meeting. The conditions of the approval are to be drafted by the village attorney.

An open house for the newly decorated library will be held with the date to be set by Lawrence Moder, chairman of the library committee, and librarian Clara Klein, the board decided.

Work on the library includes a newly tiled floor, draperies, new shelving, chairs, desk and tables to match.

Lloyd Schulz was granted permission to straighten a stone wall fronting Embarrass Street on his property. This will bring the wall in line with the neighboring walls.

The board agreed to place a seven-inch curb inside the new sidewalk to prevent washing out of the wall, which is located on village property. The board stipulated that the wall should be straightened by Jan 1, 1965.

A discussion on relief cases in general was held and the procedure to be followed when granting assistance to needy parties was outlined.

Mathews, Smith Pace Braves to Win Over San Francisco

Brilliant Relief Work, Two-Run Homer Preserve 4-3 NL Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves moved back into fifth place, just 3½ games from the top, by defeating the San Francisco Giants 4-3 Friday night on Joe Torre's eighth-inning single and a brilliant relief performance by unsung Jack Smith.

Torre drilled a single to left after Hank Aaron and Lee Maye had come through with hits to drive in the tie-breaking run. The victim was San Francisco relief specialist Gaylord Perry, who hadn't allowed a run in 22 2-3 innings.

Smith, who has been overlooked as a member of the Milwaukee bullpen staff, earned his second victory without defeat with a masterful job in relief of starter Denny Lemaster.

The chunky right-hander, who spends his spare time giving teammates haircuts, took over after the Giants had loaded the bases on three straight hits at the start of the seventh.

Smith got Willie Mays to ground into a double play as the tying run scored and ended the uprising by striking out Orlando Cepeda. He retired the Giants in order, striking out two more, in the next two innings.

The Braves picked up an unearned run in the first as Felipe Alou reached second on a two-base throwing error by Jim Davenport, went to third on a passed ball and scored on a fielder's choice.

The Braves added two more runs in the fourth as Maye doubled to left center and came around as Eddie Mathews belted his fifth homer, a shot over the centerfield fence.

Fabulous Relief Job

The Giants got two runs back in the fifth as starting pitcher Bob Bolin walked and Harvey Kuenn of West Allis, Wis., hit his second homer of the season—and second in two days—over the left field fence.

Then came Smith's fabulous relief job as Lemaster became the ninth straight Milwaukee pitcher not to go the distance and Torre's clutch hit.

The Braves and Giants were scheduled for an afternoon game today. Either Tony Cloninger, 4-5, or Hank Fischer, 5-4, was due to pitch for Milwaukee. The Giants planned to counter with ace Juan Marichal, owner of an 8-2 record.

Dow Finsterwald, Mason Rudolph Tied For Second Place

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — In the absence of Arnold Palmer, the large crowd at the Buick Open golf tournament has formed "Lema's Legion" to follow handsome Tony Lema as he tries for his second consecutive tournament victory.

Lema, winner of last week's Thunderbird Open in New York fired nine birdies, six of them in a row, Friday and took a three-stroke lead at the midpoint of the tournament with a brilliant 66.

This was three strokes better than his first-round score.

Mason Rudolph, who shot a 70 while fighting strong winds with the rest of the early starters, was in second place with a 138, followed by Dow Finsterwald's 70-70—140.

"I had a very uninteresting round," Lema chimed, "it was so consistent."

Actually, after getting a birdie on the first hole, Lema bogied two of the next three before getting birdies on the last five holes of the front nine and notching his sixth in a row on the 10th.

The string of birdies was the longest of the pro tour this year.

Lema's following, which started off as the largest of the day for any threesome, grew as word spread that Tony was having a sparkling round.

The San Leandro, Calif. native reminded newsmen that he was using a putter given to him recently by Palmer.

"Sometimes I think the putter still feels that Arnie is handling it," he added.

Scores were a bit higher compared with the first round, with the winds taking the blame. Only eleven pros were under par while on opening day Thursday 18 broke par 72.

A total of 98 pros and one amateur, Gene Hunt of Flint, Mich., survived the 36-hole cut at 151. Eight other amateurs were invited to compete in the final two rounds of the tourney Saturday and Sunday.

Gene Littler and Joe Campbell, with 154s, and Mike Souchak, with a 158, were the more prominent golfers to miss the cut.

Foxes Hold Second Place After Splitting Twin Bill

Petryshyn Hurls 5-Hit Shutout; FC Drop Second Contest, 1-0

DAVENPORT, Iowa—The Fox Cities retained their hold on second place by splitting a doubleheader with the Quad Cities Angels here Friday night.

The Foxes won the opener behind the 5-hit shutout pitching of lanky Ed Petryshyn. The win was the first for the Windsor College grad against two losses.

Quad Cities and the Foxes will meet in another twin bill tonight at 6:30.

The Billy DeMars-managed contingent dropped the nightcap, 1-0. Jim Mundel stopped the Foxes on two hits and fanned 17 in the process. John Matias collected the only Foxes' hits in the second game.

Rico Doubles

The Foxes jumped on starter and loser George Rubio for two runs in the first inning of the first game. John Sepich walked and John Matias and Dave May beat out infield hits for singles to load the sacks. Fred Rico followed with a long double to center field to score Sepich and Matias.

May rapped a homer over the right field wall in the third and Sepich poled a 380-foot shot over the wall in center for single runs in the third and fifth, respectively.

Insurance, via a single tally, came in the seventh when Petryshyn was safe on an error. John Matias' single advanced him to second and May lined a single to center to score Petryshyn.

Henry King was the victim of impotent Foxes' bats in the second encounter. King, starting his first game of the season for the FC unit, allowed six hits and fanned nine. King has appeared in 15 games relief this year.

The Angels scored the only

C-Sox, Foxes Both Split Doubleheaders; 'Rapids Wins One

Clinton's C-Sox retained its 4½-game edge over the Fox Cities Foxes as both teams split doubleheaders Friday night in Midwest League action.

Clinton squeaked out a 2 - 1 victory in the opener, but dropped the nightcap of the twin bill to Burlington, 8-5. The Foxes split with Quad Cities.

Fourth place Decatur picked up one-half game on the league leaders with a 9-7 decision over Waterloo. Dubuque and Quincy waged a 10-inning battle with the former emerging victorious, 13-11.

The victors mustered 14 hits while Quincy rapped 15 safe blows. Gross' grand slam homer in the top of the 10th was the margin of victory.

Wisconsin Rapids bounced back to win the nightcap of a twin bill by a 5-3 count. The

Early Bear Season

State Conservation Unit Approves Game Laws

WOODRUFF (AP)—The Wisconsin Conservation Commission on Friday approved an early bear season in which dogs are permitted, from Sept. 5 to 20 in certain zones. They are:

Zone A—deer management units No. 7, 14 and 28; Zone B—units 31 and 32; Zone C—units 39 and 40.

The commission also approved a basic nine-day buck deer season from Nov. 21 to Nov. 29 with the exception of the Mississippi River Zone, the southern agricultural zone and the Apostle Islands. It set a season of Nov. 21-22 in the Mississippi River Zone for deer of either sex and Nov. 23-29 for bucks only. In the Southern Agricultural Zone the session will be Nov. 21-23, either sex and in the Apostle Islands Oct. 15 to Nov. 29th, also of either sex.

In addition the commission approved a nine day either - sex season by permit only in quota zones set up earlier by the Conservation Department. The quotas were set at 35 per cent of the recommended harvest in all proposed units but the department can lower the percentages where it sees fit.

The commission okayed a two-day managed hunt by permit for deer of either sex on the Horicon National Wildlife Refuge Nov. 30-Dec. 1.

A change in waterfowl regulations will permit a second trip to the Horicon Marsh managed goose hunt if a hunter does not bag a goose on his first attempt. The daily blind fee was increased to $4.

New London Bows In State Tournament

Eau Claire, Kenosha in Finals Today

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Defending state high school basketball champion Kenosha overpowered New London, 11-1, Friday night and was to meet tournament - tested Eau Claire Memorial at 2 p.m. today for the championship.

The Old Abes, 4-time winners of the state tournament, edged Columbus 3-2 in a pitching duel in the first semi-final contest Friday.

For New London it was the end of the line and graphic proof that you can't go all the way with only one solid pitcher.

Gary Glocke, who finished the season with a 10-1 record, had been battered Thursday night and Coach Bill Beyer went with Jim McDaniel who proved to be no mystery to the hard hitting Red Devils, although he deserved better support afield.

Kenosha unlimbered its heavy artillery, banging out 10 hits, including three doubles and two home runs. Winning pitcher Rich Baumgarten had 3-for-4 with five runs batted in, including a three-run homer in the first and a two-run single in the second.

Shortstop Howard Alwardt unloaded a home run and a double to drive in two runs.

The Buildog bats were silenced by Baumgarten and Chuck Lange, who pitched the last two innings. Joe Mullarkey got the only two New London hits, a single off Baumgarten in the second and a single off Lange in the seventh.

New London committed six errors and two of the doubles probably should have been caught, with both hits figuring in the scoring.

New London scored first in the top of the first inning but Kenosha came back with 3 in its half of the inning and added 2 more in the second, all driven in by Baumgarten. The Red Devils then pushed across 3 more in the fifth and 3 in the sixth.

Safe on Error

The Bulldogs scored without the benefit of a hit in the first as Tom Fuhrman was safe on an error with 1 out. Glocke laid down a sacrifice bunt and Guhrmann tried to go all the way to third. First baseman George

Sam McDowell is through experimenting, but for Mel McGaha the end came two years too late.

McDowell is the left-handed fireballer of the Cleveland Indians who is making his third attempt to stay in the majors. McGaha managed the Indians in 1962, when McDowell's rookie season was punctuated by a trip to the minors.

McGaha made his debut as manager of the Kansas City Athletics Friday night but lost a 3-0 decision to Cleveland. McDowell stopped the Athletics on four hits for his third victory without a defeat since returning to the Indians two weeks ago.

The 21-year-old hurler started experimenting with his pitching not long after he signed with the Indians four years ago for a reported $100,000.

Follow Feller

McDowell, expected to follow in the style of Bob Feller and Herb Score, won three games and lost seven while compiling a 6.03 earned run average as a rookie. The experiments didn't help last season either as he finished with a 3-5 record and a 4.35 ERA.

Then came Portland in the Pacific Coast League, where he stopped testing, starting pitching and won eight games without a defeat.

One day after starting his third, and possibly last, trial with the Indians he won in relief. Two days later he beat the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Now he's won three games, allowed only 1.55 runs per game and struck out 39 batters in 29 innings.

McDowell's performance Friday night was just one of five complete games by AL pitchers. Steve Hamilton and Whitey Ford went the distance as the New York Yankees swept the league-leading White Sox 6-1 and 3-0, Camilo Pascual and Minnesota outlasted Washington 5-3 and Boston whipped Baltimore 7-3 behind Dave Morehead.

McDowell's wildness twice got him into bases-loaded trouble, but he escaped safely. He walked six Athletics and hit two more. The Indians scored their runs in the third inning, two coming home on Bob Chance's single.

Ford won his eighth straight game since losing Opening Day and recorded his fifth shutout of the season in halting the White Sox on four hits in the nightcap. Tony Kubek belted a two-run homer in the Yankees' three-run sixth.

Hamilton, 4-0, scattered nine hits in the opener, his first start for New York. Roger Maris singled across two runs and Joe Pepitone slammed a two-run homer in the five-run sixth. Bobby Richardson got the 1,000th hit of his 10-year major league career, a single, in the inning.

Pascual became the league's

LC-K and Fond du Lac will meet at the Little Chute diamond. Faye Mehlberg, curveballing left-hander for the Papermakers, will be seeking his fifth straight success of the season.

Fond du Lac dropped its first three games but came through with a close win over Oshkosh in a make-up game this week.

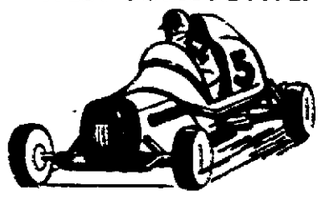

Freedom and Manitowoc face "must win" situations as the victor will remain in strong contention for the first half league title. Freedom's only loss was to Kaukauna and Manitowoc's only defeat was at the hands of Little Chute - Kimberly in the season opener.

Other games on the schedule include Menasha at Two Rivers and Oshkosh at Kaukauna.

Larry Huebner will be on the hill for Freedom and Jim Ayres is the likely starter for Manitowoc. Huebner has one of the top earned run averages in the league and also one of the best strikeout totals.

Sandy Koufax Blanks St. Louis for 3-0 Win; Cards Held to Four Hits

Cincinnati Tops Houston Colts, 3-0; Cubs Belt Pirates

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

No runs, eight hits and five ejections.

Those are the St. Louis Cardinals' totals for the last two games.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers picked up Friday night where teammate Don Drysdale left off Thursday night blanking the Cardinals 3-0 under almost identical circumstances.

Koufax allowed only four hits while posting his eighth victory and third shutout. Drysdale also allowed only four hits while winning his eighth and recording his fourth shutout. And, in each game, the Cardinals got a good look at an umpire's thumb.

Outfielder Carl Warwick, pitcher Ernie Broglio and infielder Julian Javier were thrown out Thursday in two separate arguments.

The Cardinals made a decided improvement Friday, losing two men in one argument. Manager Johnny Keane and pitcher Bob Gibson were ejected for arguing on a force play at second base in the Cardinals' half of the eighth.

Lost 8 of 11

And while they haven't won any arguments recently, the Cardinals have managed to lose quite regularly. They now have lost eight of their last 11 games and 14 of their last 20. The Cardinals have skidded to a tie for sixth but still are only four games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

The Phillies were walloped by the New York Mets 11-3 but remained six percentage points in front of the second - place San Francisco Giants, who lost to Milwaukee 4-3.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall shut out Houston 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs belted Pittsburgh 7-1.

Only Run

The Dodgers scored the only run Koufax, 8-4 needed in the fourth inning against Ernie Broglio, 3-5, when Willie Davis reached base on a force out, and came around on singles by Wally Moon and Tommy Davis.

The Dodgers added two runs in the seventh on a hit batter, a walk, an error by Julian Javier and a single by Tommy Davis.

Joe Christopher drove in three runs for the Mets—two with a homer—and sparked two uprisings. He drove in a run with a key single as the Mets batted around for five runs in the third and capped a four-run seventh with his homer. Christopher also tripled in the ninth and scored on a wild pitch.

Tracy Stallard, tagged for Richie Allen's 12th homer, won it for a 4-7 record. Dennis Bennett, 7-4, took the loss.

Joe Nuxhall 6-3, checked the Colts on seven hits for his fourth shutout while Frank Robinson provided two of the Reds' runs off Ken Johnson with a homer and a sacrifice fly. The homer was No. 13 for Robinson.

Had No-Hitter

It was the first meeting between the two pitchers since April 23 when Johnson pitched a no-hitter and lost to Nuxhall 1-0 as the Reds scored in the ninth inning on two errors.

The Cubs struck for six runs in the sixth inning to beat the Pirates, the first grand-slam homer of Joey Amalfitano's career capping the sudden uprising.

Bob Veale had allowed only one hit when he lost his control. Two walks and a single by Billy Williams produced a run, Veale wild pitched another home and then ElRoy Face came on, intentionally walked Ernie Banks and made his first pitch to Amalfitano too good.

Benedict threw over the third baseman's head and Fuhrman scored.

Kenosha bounced back in the first as Gordy Meyer and Ernie Virgill were safe on errors and Baumgarten cleared the bases with a poke over the left-center field wall. Baumgarten drove in 2 more runs with a single in the second.

The Red Devils added three more in the fifth on two hits, a walk and two errors and scored three more in the sixth on three hits, including Alwardt's homer, and two more New London errors

Dan Field had three hits including two doubles and drove in two runs to lead Eau Claire past Columbus. Field drove in one run with a double in the third and another with a double in the fifth. The winning run scored on an error in the same inning.

Sophomore Hurls

Columbus scored both of its runs in the first inning on three hits and then was shutout the rest of the way by sophomore George Hoepner who needed help with two out in the seventh.

John Poser, who pitched a 3-hit shutout Thursday for Columbus, pitched 4 2-3 innings in relief against Eau Claire and allowed only 2 hits but gave up the tying and winning runs and was tagged with the loss.

High School Vaulters Warned on Fiberglass

CHICAGO (AP)—High school pole vaulters were warned today they risk possible serious injury if they use fiberglass poles lighter than those specified for their weight in an effort to get whiplike action that can produce greater heights.

A caution that there is "apparent vulnerability to breakage" from putting too much weight on a pole of given strength was made in a joint statement by the Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Association and National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

The statement said:

"The potential hazard from falls and possible impaling of the vaulter justifies serious concern by all of those interested in the health and safety of athletes.

"Too often, in an attempt to achieve the publicized whiplike action, the aspiring athlete turns to a pole lighter than that specified for his weight.

Rated by Manufacturer

"Each fiberglass pole is rated by the manufacturer through control tests on flexural, tensile and compressive strength for a definite weight limit. Manufacturers warn that the poles must not be overloaded as much as five pounds or breakage is apt to occur."

Most of today's 16-foot vaulters use a pole specified for a person five pounds over their weight to get the pole strength for the kick needed to get over the top, the statement said.

It added that these experienced vaulters know how to put extra bend in the pole, while the average high school vaulter doesn't have this skill and is not trying for a height requiring whip action.

"Therefore, there is no excuse whatever. . .for the coach to allow his vaulters to use a pole lighter than that specified for their weight," the statement said.

Griffith Victorious; Eyes Giardello Bout

Gains Split Decision in Defense Of Title Against Luis Rodriguez

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — New York's Emile Griffith remains the welterweight champion of the world after outpointing top challenger Luis Rodriguez and the pattern of their long ring rivalry remains unchanged.

The outcome brought on a giant beef from the Cuban's camp, and, as has been the custom in all of their four fights, there was a split decision.

Meeting for the third time in little more than a year with the title at stake, Griffith and Rodriguez kept their nationally televised 15-rounder in the Convention Center close all the way.

Dissenting Vote

Referee Harry Krause scored it 69-67 for Griffith, Judge John Romero had it 70-68 for Griffith and the dissenting vote came from Judge David Zenoff, 71-70 for Rodriguez.

There were no knockdowns and the only damage was a slight eye cut suffered by Rodriguez in the second round. The wound was mended and never reopened.

Griffith, who lost the title to Rodriguez in New York last March and got it back in the same city in June, didn't think there was any question about who won this one.

Lacked 'Zing-Zing'

"Rodriguez seemed to lack the zing-zing he usually has. I hurt him under the body. But don't take anything away from him, he's a good fighter."

"I thought I won," declared Rodriguez, adding, "Griffith had plenty of protection. I can't beat him in Las Vegas, New York or the Virgin Islands."

Luis said the referee was unfair in handling the constant infighting and clinches, and his chief handler, Angelo Dundee, said:

"We got the works. The referee kept harassing Rodriguez."

May Challenge Giardello

Co-managers Gil Clancy and Howard Albert, with Griffith nodding assent, said they may challenge middleweight champion Joey Giardello for his title.

"I think I can beat Giardello," Emile said.

Clancy said Brian Curvis, the British Empire champion, is also a logical challenger.

And, perhaps, said the Griffith people, they would be willing to fight Rodriguez again—No. 5 in a string that began in 1961. The score now stands 3-1 for Griffith.

Promoter Mel Greb said attendance was 4,604 and gate receipts $45,295, plus $70,000 for television rights.

Players to Vote for All-Star Squads

Changes Likely If Ballots Follow Batting Averages

NEW YORK (AP)—It is election time in baseball. In the next few weeks, the big leaguers will pick the players for the All-Star game to be played July 7 at Shea Stadium. Unless they ignore the batting averages, some big names will be left off the ticket.

If you take the top average man from each position, the only repeaters of last year's regulars will be Ken Boyer of St. Louis, Willie Mays of San Francisco and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees.

Actually, Mantle didn't start last year in Cleveland because he was out of action due to a broken foot. However, Mickey had been picked for the team. Albie Pearson of Los Angeles, hitting .220 this year through Tuesday's games, was his replacement.

All-Star Infield

Boyer is the only member of the Cardinals' All-Star infield in a position to repeat on the basis of average. Bill White the first baseman, is hitting only .228. Julian Javier, at second base, is batting only .224 and Dick Groat, at short, with .284 is close but not quite up to Maury Wills of Los Angeles with his .288 mark.

Javier got in on a rain check last July when Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh suffered a pulled leg muscle. Maz is way down there at .229 this season. Boyer, of course, has been among the leaders all season with a .328 average.

Mays is in there solid although his .400-plus average has dropped down to .359. But Tommy Davis of the Dodgers, 1962 and 1963 batting champion, is way off at .254 and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, the right-field starter last year, is hitting .293.

Starting Catcher

Ed Bailey, then with San Francisco was the starting catcher in '63 but he is hitting only .184 for Milwaukee this year.

Through Tuesday's averages, the top men in the National at each position are Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco, first base, .309; Ron Hunt of New York, second base, .306; Wills, shortstop, .288; Boyer, third base, .328; Billy Williams of Chicago, .395, Mike White of Houston .352 and Mays, .359, outfielders, and Joe Torre, of Milwaukee, catcher, .339.

In the American League, Joe Pepitone of New York, Nellie Fox of Chicago (now Houston), Voilo Versalles of Minnesota, Frank Malzone of Boston, Earl Battey of Minnesota Al Kaline of Detroit and Leon Wagner of Cleveland are not leading their respective positions. Wagner, of course, leads the league with 46 runs batted in but his average of .290 isn't among the leaders.

American League leaders at each position are Fred Whitfield of Cleveland, first base, .317; Bobby Richardson of New York, second base, .302; Jim Fregosi of Los Angeles, shortstop, .347; Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, third base, .306; Chuck Hinton of Washington, .350, Tony Oliva of Minnesota .369; and Mantle, .306, outfielders, and Elston Howard of New York, catcher, .323.

If "Roll Out the Barrel" is Pittsburgh Pirate third baseman's Gene Freeze's favorite song, it wasn't after Freeze gave the old college try in his attempt to catch a foul ball in the sixth inning of the game yesterday in Chicago. The Buc third-sacker didn't catch the foul, which came off the bat of the Cubs' Lou Brock, but did sprawl on the rolled tarpaulin along the left field stands. The Cubs won, 7-1. (AP Wirephoto) which opens July 13 in San Francisco.

No Further Change Seen In Rights Bill

"I hope the President can sign it on the Fourth of July, giving a brand new meaning to that day," Humphrey said.

House leaders privately agree that action can be completed before the convention recess. But for this to happen, they say, the Senate must pass the bill next week.

Humphrey said the Senate would, and he predicted final action will come by Wednesday.

Indications that Humphrey may be right came before the Senate adjourned Friday when Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., announced hearings on a food stamp bill would open Thursday.

There had been an agreement these sessions would begin as soon as the civil rights bill was out of the way, Humphrey said.

The Minnesotan said action on amendments to the bill under cloture, imposed by the Senate Wednesday, has been faster than expected. Each senator now is limited to one hour of speaking time on the bill and all amendments.

The Senate is in session today as the leaders try to push the bill along.

Friday 11 changes proposed by Southerners were rejected and two minor changes, accepted by the bill's managers, were agreed to by voice vote.

Scranton on Crusade to Save the Party has only 92 delegates to Goldwater's 574 with 655 needed for nomination.

No Answer

How anyone could close that chasm was something party professionals couldn't answer.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has found himself fighting it out alone with Goldwater, said he was glad to see Scranton "joining the battle to give our party a choice."

But there was a feeling among many party pros, including those who oppose Goldwater, that Scranton waited too long that the time is too short and Goldwater's lead too long.

And Goldwater, who is Scranton's commanding officer in an Air Force reserve unit in Washington, said the governor will have to wage a "costly, vigorous campaign to convince delegates pledged to me that it would be a mistake to stay with me."

Tough Job

"It will be a tough job," mused Goldwater. "It is too late now."

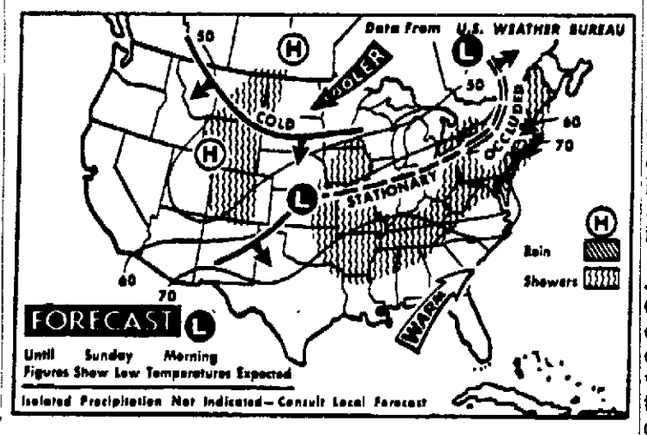

Replied Scranton at a news conference: "We will wait and see about that one."

The Pennsylvania governor said he has no illusions about the difficulties in his last-hour contest against Goldwater.

"I think this will be a strong uphill fight," he said. "I don't deny this for a minute. Every fight I have been in always has been."

He conceded "the hour is late" and that Republican moderates have "waited dangerously long to call upon our party's conscience, upon its wisdom, and upon its will."

"I share the responsibility, and I admit it, with others of our leaders who until now have failed to act," he said.

Showers Are Expected tonight for New England, the northern portion of the middle Atlantic states, the Appalachians and the north and central Rockies. It will be slightly warmer in the northern Rockies. A turn to cooler weather will be noted in the northern tier of state from the Dakotas to the upper Great Lakes region. (AP Wirephoto Map) has declared its view that the new school should be administered as a branch of the University at Madison. But the board of state college regents, in a formal resolution, has said that it feels the new school should be logically considered a part of its responsibility, along with nine existing state colleges.

Lower Valley Endorsed For Four-Year College

When the coordinating committee and other officials attended a conference at Green Bay recently to discuss the need for publicly supported higher education in the region, they came away with the impression that that local backers of the new institution idea were thinking in "university" identity terms.

Committee Action

The coordinating committee action Friday skirted the question of management jurisdiction, by proposing a planning appropriation by the legislature that would be put into its hands "temporarily."

The money would be transferred later, either to the university or college regents, when the decision about administrative responsibility is made by the legislature, according to the plan.

Thus the preliminary work would be entrusted to the committee staff, which is headed by Prof. Carlisle Runge of the University, and Dr. Jim Dan Hill, retired president of the state college at Superior as co-directors. Runge is a native of the Fox Valley. He grew up at Seymour.

can party feels that they want to control the nomination and have talked Gov. Scranton into becoming an active candidate. This last minute effort to deny Goldwater the nomination I feel is ill-timed."

Michigan officials, on the other hand, welcomed Scranton's announcement. State party chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. said, "It creates a genuinely open convention. I think it's a strengthening thing to the party." And national committeeman John B. Martin hailed Scranton as "one of our most able and attractive political figures today."

48 Delegates

Gov. George Romney, who flirted with the idea of running, said Michigan's 48-vote convention delegation will remain uncommitted. But he left no doubt he would consider Scranton an acceptable presidential nominee.

New York Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino, a supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, called Scranton's statement excellent but added, "This in no way will change my position or the position of the New York delegation to continue in support of Gov. Rockefeller."

Gov. Mark Hatfield, chairman of the Oregon delegation committed to Rockefeller on the first ballot, welcomed Scranton's announcement "Because it assures an open convention in San Francisco."

Pops Seem Tops In Unusual Ways

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Again I would like to share my Fathers Day collection with gentle reader. Once, long ago, I served as an editor and conductor of a Fathers Day contest for children

The youngsters wrote letters in praise of their fathers and I excerpted some of the most interesting. They're timely now -- Fathers Day comes next Sunday, June 21 All the excerpts here are from real letters:

My pops tops. When we moved from the old house to our farm my pop bought me three pigs so I wouldn't be lonesome for my boy friends. —Mauston

* * *

House My dad worries more about us boys than he does about our sisters. That's because boys grow up to BE somebody but all girls does is lay around till they gets married. —Kimberly.

* * *

My pa lets our ma lick us so then we will be mad at her, not he. — LaCrosse

* * *

I like my pop very much because when I was born he just took one look at me and then name me after hisself.—Kimberly

When my mother is sick, daddy will go out of his way to show her short cuts to make her work easier. He's a sport.—Algoma
